Peace protester jailed

BY ALICIA BABAEE

alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A CITY peace protester has been jailed for 28 days for boarding a US military plane to search for weapons bound for Israel.

Marcus Armstrong, 47, from The Well at Willen on Newport Road, was found guilty of entering a restricted zone and getting into the aircraft without permission.

He was one of eight arrested after the incident at Prestwick Airport, in Ayrshire, Scotland on August 7 last year.

He turned down the option of a £750 fine, forcing Ayr Sheriff's Court to impose a custodial sentence.

After the incident last year, Armstrong told MKNEWS: "I have no regrets. I am so glad I went for it, I'm so glad I've taken some action. It's fundamentally wrong so I decided to make a stand."

Marcus Armstrong boarded a US military plane suspected of carrying bombs bound for Israel

Charges of breaking into the airport were dropped against all eight of the arrested persons because signs on the fence did not clearly show it was an offence. The Civil Aviation Act 1992 states the signs must do this.

Angela Zelter, 56, of East Runton, Norfolk, and Christopher Bluemel, 26, of Southampton, had their charges of getting onto a military plane without permission dropped because police could not properly identify them.

The judge said positive identification from two police officers was needed for a conviction of those who entered the plane.

This was the case for Mr Armstrong, but only one officer could confirm seeing Mr Bluemel and Miss Zelter.

The three are members of the Trident Ploughshares anti-nuclear group which managed to walk on to a C130 military craft to look for weapons.

The protesters claimed their presence at the airport was in the public interest.

Mr Armstrong, who was caught on the plane by engineers, said in August: "We didn't find any bombs, the plane we happened to get onto was a troop plane. I was in the cockpit looking through papers.

"There were several aspects to what we did. One is that we wanted to breach security and show how easy it is to do it.

"Two is that we want to keep it on the public agenda that this is happening.

"Three is aiding the Government and police in what we feel is their duty. I feel a duty as a respectable citizen to uphold international law. I am pro-peace.

"We really hope the Government takes this seriously. Otherwise I'm going to have a job for life doing this.

"The engineers were very shocked and upset, I was a bit sorry for them."

One plane was suspected of carrying armaments, possibly 'bunker buster' bombs tipped with depleted uranium.

Let city homeless live in caravans

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

Anti-gypsy site Tory suggests mobile home parks to ease housing crisis

AN anti-gypsy site councillor has shocked colleagues by suggesting setting up 'mobile home parks' for homeless people.

Cllr Don Hoyle has been blasted in the past for his views on travellers.

He accused the council of 'gold plating' statutory requirements after it submitted plans for a new gypsy site in Calverton.

But now Cllr Hoyle has suggested building more caravan-style parks in the city – but this time for the homeless.

Conservative Cllr Hoyle came up with the idea during a Social Policy Development and Housing Committee meeting of which he is vice chairman.

He said: "It was actually quite an earnest idea. We were looking at homelessness at the time.

"We have three areas earmarked for gyspy sites, why not use two for proper mobile homes?

"We could supply decent housing very quickly for people who are homeless.

"It would be permanent housing, but not for gypsies. They're not proper caravans, they're prefabricated homes."

Cllr Hoyle suggested that they could be a good form of affordable housing.

In the past cllr Hoyle has been accused of having 'a bee in his bonnet' about travellers and their sites.

Cllr Liz Campbell, who is also on the committee, said: "I was amazed to hear a Tory who has long campaigned against caravan sites in Milton Keynes urging the council to house homeless families in caravans.

"Where is he planning to put these sites? Families deserve to live in decent homes with proper facilities for their children and not caravan sites.

"Tory dinosaurs like cllr Hoyle want to punish people who can't afford to buy a home of their own."

Cllr Don Hoyle

NAG chairman resigns again

A WOMAN punched in the face by the chairman of an anti-crime group says she is 'glad' that he's resigned as chairman.

Victim Linda Stockbridge prerviously branded it a 'disgrace' that members of the group reinstated convicted former councillor Tony Mabbott minutes after he resigned on July 12.

The former Neighbourhood Action Group (NAG) chairman was found guilty of smacking and punching her in the face outside Knowles Middle School in Bletchley in June 2006.

He was fined a total of £905 including compensation and costs at Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court on June 21.

Police officers, parish councillors, Milton Keynes councillors and council officers made the decision to reinstate him after he handed in his resignation last month.

But on Thursday night, he once again stood down as chairman. The NAG is designed to improve community safety and reduce crime and disorder.

On hearing the news, his victim, nurse Linda Stockbridge, said: "I think he's done the right thing for once, I'm glad he's done the right thing. It was a ridiculous situation that someone who did that was chairing a group like the NAG. He should take a step back and let some time pass."

After he had been reinstated she told MKNEWS: "I think this is absolutely disgraceful. It's hypocritical. What are the people around him thinking?

"Not once have these people condemned him for what he's done, and now they've re-instated him. I find it unbelievable."

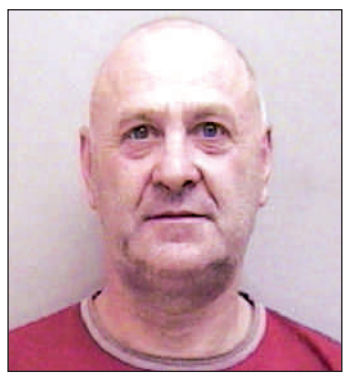
A new chairman, Granby resident John Roley, has been elected.

Mr Mabbott said he decided to resign as chairman because people were using it as a 'political football'.

He added: "We've got a job to do and I intend to continue being part of the team. I've got things to contribute."

The NAG - which covers Granby Court, Central Bletchley and Fenny Stratford - is run by Milton Keynes Community Safety Partnership, Thames Valley Police and Milton Keynes Council.

Bletchley and Fenny Stratford Town Council, which disassociated itself from the Central Bletchley and Industry NAG. has resumed its relationship with the group.



Police praise for informant

A SENIOR detective has praised a member of the public who provided information which led to a drug dealer being sentenced to four years jail.

Anthony David Dimmock (above), 50, from Larch Grove, Bletchley, was sentenced at Aylesbury Crown Court on Monday after pleading guilty to possession of class A drugs with intent to supply.

Detectives stopped Dimmock's car in Larch Grove on May 31 as he drove from his home. A search of the vehicle uncovered almost half a kilo of cocaine.

DI Yvette Hitch, who leads the city police's fight against drug dealers, said: "This arrest was made on the back of information from a member of the public. I cannot stress how invaluable information from the local community can be.

"Falcon, the operation we have launched to rid the city of dealers, is dependent on the police and other agencies working with communities."

Woman bitten on nose in Tinkers Bridge attack

A WOMAN was bitten on the nose during an attack by a man in Tinkers Bridge.

Police are appealing for witnesses following the assault, at about 8.15pm on Thursday.

The woman was walking near to the local shops when the offender pounced, kicking, punching and stamping on her as well as biting her nose, leaving her with an injured arm, cuts and bruises.

The victim believes there were two witnesses to the attack; a man who was walking his dog and a man and woman who peered over the bridge and asked if she was OK.

Police described the attacker as white, 5ft 9ins, with short, light brown hair. He wore a white jumper, blue jeans and black shoes.

The victim is white with long blonde hair. She was wearing a light-blue top, white trousers and trainers.

Anti Hill Mob: Guy Attard, Tim Beilby, Martin Bellis and Grant McKay

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

Ramshackle Rallyers woke up in France, had breakfast in Germany, lunch in Switzerland and dinner in Austria – all in one day

THREE city men survived two near-death experiences driving a battered old Volvo from Calais to Poland.

Grant McKay, from Peartree Bridge and his three friends Tim Beilby, from Old Farm Park, Martyn Bellis, from Emerson Valley, and Guy Attard, from Leighton Buzzard took part in the Ramshackle Rally, driving a car worth £100 from Calais to Krakow in four days.

Their mission was to drive their 22-year-old Volvo 240 GL estate, which had 140,000 miles on the clock, and return to the UK in one piece.

Along the 1,400 mile route there was stops in Strasbourg on the French/German border, Innsbruck in Austria and Bratislava the capital city of Slovakia.

The group dressed as gangsters The Ant Hill Mob from the cartoon series the Wacky Races.

The 108 teams taking part were also given tasks to make the journey more interesting, including getting pictures taken with police officers in the different countries, getting to the highest point of the Austrian Alps and asking ten tourists to stand by their car for a photo and collecting as many beer mats from local bars and restaurants as possible.

Grant McKay said the group enjoyed the experience, though there were some scary times.

"I admit that all four of us were very nervous going up and down the Alps, looking over the edge of the mountain in a 22-year-old Volvo, climbing a mountain that reached around 4,000 metres, in first and second gear with fingers and toes crossed that we didn't stall or burn out the brakes for the second day running."

He said the team had survived two near-death experiences, one in Vienna where they were nearly hit by a train on a crossing and another when they were almost run off the road by a lorry in Poland.

"Those were our worst moments, as well as paying out for toll after toll in France, the roads in Eastern Europe, and four men spending 10-12 hours in one car every day."

He said the best moment was driving through the snow-capped landscape of the Swiss and Austrian Alps.

"No words could describe it, just breathtaking," he said.

"How many people can say that they woke up in France, had breakfast in Germany, lunch in Switzerland and dinner in Austria, all in one day?" he added.

"The team has raised more than £2,000 for Great Ormond Street Hospital and Macmillan Cancer Support. I want to thank everybody who has been generous in supporting us with donations – it really will make a difference to the two charities," said Grant.

Man accused of keeping wild birds

BIRD experts from around the country have been called to give evidence at the trial of a city man charged with keeping 20 wild birds at his home.

James Wilson, 59, began his five-day trial on Monday following a raid at his home in Alexandra Drive, Newport Pagnell in January last year.

Police and RSPCA inspectors discovered eight goldfinches, six bullfinches, three chaffinches, two bramblings and a linnet.

They were taken to an aviary for inspection and the RSPCA decided to prosecute under the Wildlife and Countryside Act, which prohibits the possession of wild birds, dead or alive.

Mr Wilson pleaded not guilty to the charges at a preliminary hearing in October but if found guilty could face a prison sentence or substantial fines for each bird.

At Milton Keynes Magistrates' Court yesterday, deputy District Judge Geoffrey Wicks watched video evidence of the recovered birds and listened to evidence from bird experts concerning whether they were wild or captive-bred.

The prosecution called expert Roger Caton, who examined the birds. He said: "I observed how they land on the netting of the aviary. A captive bird will have learnt the confines of it's enclosure and know that it can't get through the netting."

The court heard that Mr Wilson previously claimed to have won an award for the best British bird at a national exhibition.

Making Connexions

SIR – I refer to the recent letter 'No city jobs to suit' in which the writer refers to his grandson's difficulties in seeking a job.

Connexions was mentioned and I thought it would be useful to explain how the young people's advice and support service helps young people find work and training in Milton Keynes.

Connexions has helped reduce the number of 16-18 year olds not in learning or work in MK by 22 per cent since March 2005.

Connexions:MK currently has some 350 young people aged 16-18 registered as actively seeking work or training, and for whom we provide careers and work-related support, including vacancy notification, CV writing and preparation for interviews.

We run programmes such as Job Clubs which help young people enter, or get back into, work, and we engage local employers through innovative schemes such as 'speed-matching' where employers and young people have a chance to see whether they're interested before progressing to a formal interview.

Connexions:MK is in touch with most young people, particularly school-leavers, linking them with businesses for skilled and unskilled posts.

All our recruitment services are free of charge and we would urge local employers to get in touch with us on 01908 232808 if they have a post they're looking to fill.

Nose for news

SIR – Two articles ('smoking ban' and 'chicken muck') about smells, in the first three pages last week.

Maybe those Brickhill farmers should consult with Oceana about using Hydro-Spa on the farms.

Ears and teeth disease

SIR – I have read the flood of comments on flag flying.

Has the world gone mad, or is it an outbreak only affecting Milton Keynes?

Surely it is obvious that any calls or suggestions regarding flying the Union Flag are falling on deaf ears?

I write this in order to stop the gnashing of teeth keeping dentists in the area very busy.

The council banned flag flying/displaying around the time of the World Cup millions of years ago. It was an obvious sign that British taxi drivers were going to drive their unwitting fares to dark lanes and do away with them.

Do those who write so much about it think they can persuade the council? – the same council that has shown itself to be a collection of [insert your own libellous term here].

Good Samaritans

SIR – Last Sunday my wife and I, who are both disabled, were travelling from Haversham to Emerson Valley when our car broke down on Dansteed Way, Crownhill.

We had left our mobile phone at home, so setting off to find a phone box I came across three young children playing who took me to the nearest one which was quite a distance. Of course it was not working.

I then went into the local Spar shop were the owner not only phoned the breakdown service but then drove me back to my car.

Then while waiting for the breakdown service to arrive a lady stopped in her car to ask if she could help.

My wife explained that she was worried because she had left the dinner on on a low gas. The lady said: "Get in my car, I will take you home," which she did.

She then drove back to me to tell me the house had not burnt down and that she would call back later to see if I was still there.

My wife and I would like to express our heartfelt thanks to these kind people for their help and kindness.

Eastman search

SIR – May I ask if any of your readers are able to help me in finding relatives that might be living locally?

My company relocated from London to Milton Keynes in 1990 and I moved to Newport Pagnell.

I assumed that I was the first person in my family to live in this part of Buckinghamshire but am amazed to find that assumption is wrong.

My sister has been tracing our family history over the past year and has discovered that our great, great grandfather Willam Eastman was born in Walton Village in 1807.

His wife Elizabeth came from Preston Bissett.

The birth of my great grandfather, Joseph, was in 1841 also in Walton Village and his first wife, Amelia, came from Wavendon. (However my grandfather William was born in Middlesex.)

My grandfather's eldest (half) brother, Ernest Edward, is recorded as being born in Fenny Stratford in 1866 although at the time his father Joseph (my great grandfather) was living in Simpson (Sympson).

I recently visited St Michael's Church in Walton and found the grave of Ernest who was buried there in 1930 aged 64. His wife Agnes was buried alongside him in 1962.

I would appreciate it if any of your readers, or their families, who lived in the area prior to the development of Milton Keynes might have any knowledge of Eastman's who lived around the Walton/Simpson villages.

If any readers can help they can contact me at eft123@btinternet.com

Willen Lakes' lanterns proving inspirational

SIR – I have to say what a wonderful evening I spent down at Willen Lake last week to commemorate the victims of the first atomic bomb attack.

The event, which has been running for years, was blessed once again by good weather and the sight of all of those lanterns being floated out onto the water is truly breathtaking and inspirational.

Long may this tradition continue.

I know I am not alone in wishing this.

System failure

SIR – I was delighted to read your article regarding the homeless man Daniel Issayu and his return home to his native Geneva.

I couldn't help agreeing with Ann Cooper from the Open Door drop in centre, though, when she said how angry she was that the system had failed Daniel here.

How is it possible for someone to live homeless on a bench in the centre of our city without the authorities taking some sort of positive action to help this man out?

The issue should not be one of whether he should have been in this country or not in the first place but one of helping out a fellow human being.

Thank you MK NEWS for bringing his story into the spotlight and for the kind actions of the volunteers who have probably saved his life.

Name and address supplied

Cut to the chase

SIR – I noted with interest Paul Bartlett's letter last week.

In particular his interest in once again standing for MK Council next May as he says there are many issues that need attention in Stony.

I could not agree more, the grass cutting, the trees and hedges are a disgrace as are some areas around prominent buildings in Stony, I have not even got onto the litter yet.

So Paul, if you can tackle some of these problems I for one am with you all the way.

Josh Reynolds
Frankston Avenue, Stony Stratford

Pool of tears

SIR – I am a regular at Wolverton outdoor swimming pool as I find it a fantastic place to take my children for a day out.

It is a great shame that, after the current summer season ends, the pool is due to close and never open again.

I understand that a new health centre is due to be built on the site. A new indoor pool is also promised but I would be interested to hear when that is due to open.

It seems rather ironic to me that at a time when Wolverton is trying to portray itself as being a town with plenty to offer, it is about to lose one of the very things that it has that cannot be found elsewhere in Milton Keynes!

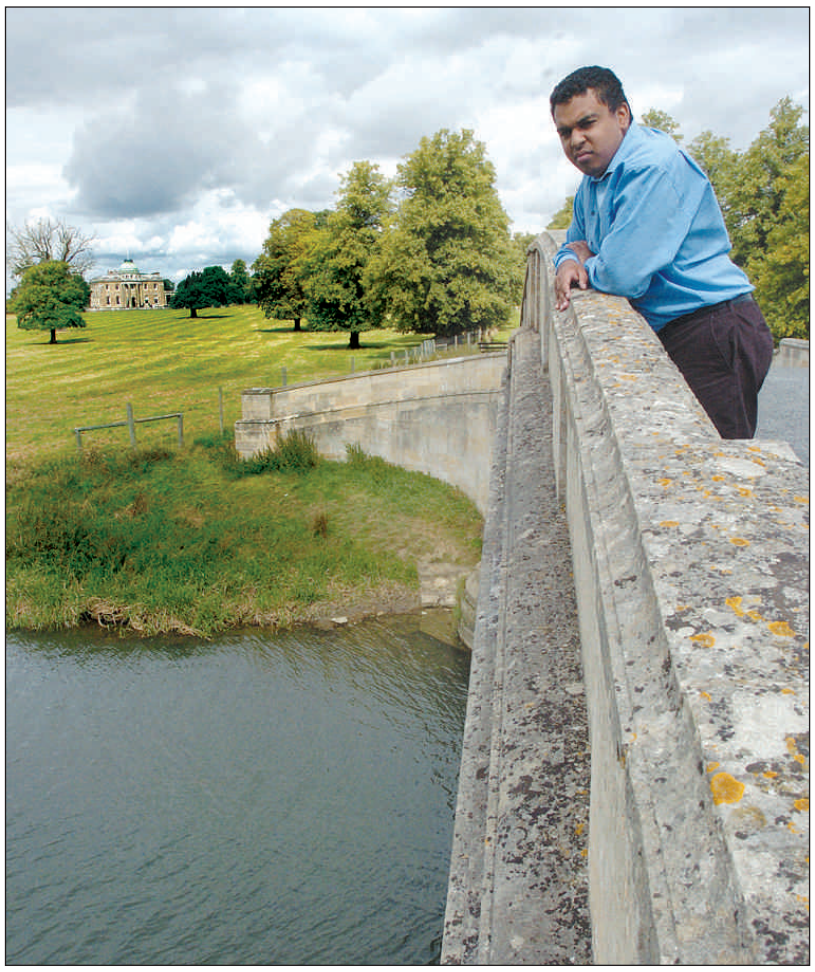
A bridge law too far

Council plans to ban jumpers held up – now angry residents are demanding action

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk



Action demand: Cllr Sam Potts on Tyringham Bridge

YOUNGSTERS are still allowed to jump off a bridge into the River Ouse, nearly a year after the council applied for a ban to stop them.

Tyringham residents say the bridge is attracting anti-social behaviour from youngsters who congregate there to jump off it throughout the summer holidays.

Milton Keynes Council decided to pass a by-law to prevent people from swimming under and diving from Tyringham Bridge in September last year.

By January the papers had been signed and sealed to ensure the ban was in place by the summer.

Now, eleven months on, ward Cllr Sam Potts says he is livid that it has taken so long.

He said: "There are kids drinking, swearing at local residents, being abusive, even threats of physical violence.Jumping off the bridge is also very unsafe.

"The Government has failed to sign off the by-law.

"It should only take a few months, maximum. We deliberately started it in September because we hoped to get it in place by January or February, well in time for the summer holidays."

He has drafted a question for Cllr Irene Henderson, cabinet member with responsibility for crime, asking her what pressure she plans to put on the Government.

A spokesman for the Department of Communities and Local Government, which deals with by-laws, said: "The application and draft by-law submitted by MK Council raised a number of legal and drafting issues which, in our role as confirming authority, we are bound to pursue with the council. By-laws introduce a criminal offence. It is therefore right that they should be legally sound. We raised these matters with the council in a letter onJune 8.

"The council acknowledged this letter, and we await the council's substantive response."

Animal ban woman cost RSPCA £12,000

A WOMAN has been banned from keeping animals for ten years after being found guilty of neglecting two dogs.

Pearl Bull, a cleaner, of Farthing Grove, Netherfield, was fined £450 and ordered to do 200 hours community service.

She was convicted for withholding vetinary treatment from a female Jack Russell called Rosie with a tumour and a German Shepherd called Sabboth with a skin and ear condition.

After she was sentenced, RSPCA Inspector Dave Braybrooke said: "I am please with the result, the sentence relects the seriousness of the offence commited.

"Both medical problems were easily visible, and the dogs should have been taken to the vet long before they were.

"This hopefully serves as warning to other people."

Bull, who has a 15-year-old son, refused to sign her dogs over to the RSPCA when they took them into their care in 2006.

Therefore the charity has not been able to rehome them, incurring costs of £12,000 to look after them.

But yesterday, the animals were confiscated.

She will not be allowed to keep her other dog, which she has been given 14 days to rehome.

Robin Gates, prosectuting, said: "Rosie had a very large tumour that had not been treated. The reasoning by the defendent was the age of the dog, she said she had been advised surgery would be problematical.

"But she was younger than the defendent maintained. The tumour prevented free movement, it had become ulcerated.

Problems: Sabboth has skin condition

"The surgery took place and was perfectly successful.

"Sabboth still has problems. The prognosis for one ear is not good at all. The dog has become institutionalised almost."

Defence solicitor Dean Price said: "My client is actually someone who loved these dogs very dearly.

"She only gets £60 a week and she has not only got to support herself, but also her son as well."

She is signed off from work at the moment due to illness.

Sentencing her, the magistrate said: "We consider these matters to be both serious and totally unacceptable because through neglect she caused considerable suffering to the dogs in question."

Lotto crew films supporters of Waterway Park

PLANS for the city's new waterway park have been put on film.

The Bedford & Milton Keynes Waterway Trust played host to the Big Lottery film crew last week.

The crew spent time interviewing members of the various organisations which were supporting the Big Lottery Bid for £25 million to build the Milton Keynes Waterway Park as the first stage of the Bedford to Milton Keynes Waterway.

The Big Lottery Bid is for the construction of the Milton Keynes section of the Bedford to Milton Keynes Waterway running from the Grand Union Canal via Willen Lake, through Broughton Brook Linear Park into the eastern expansion area up to the Bedfordshire border.

Among those interviewed were John Best, Milton Keynes Council chief executive, Jane Wolfson, project director for the park and dGraham Mabbutt, volunteer director of the Bedford and Milton Keynes Waterway Trust.

Mr Mabbutt said: "It was an interesting experience. An afternoon's filming in the sun, answering all the questions about the project. I am confident that it will make a very interesting piece of film."

Under the Living Landmarks funding stream, 23 projects have made it on to the shortlist to compete for a small number of grants of between £10 million and £25 million each.

The film will be viewed by the Big Lottery review committee in the autumn and will be instrumental in deciding the new funding shortlist.

From September it will be available online at www.biglotteryfund.org.uk

First-time burglar jailed

A FIRST-TIME burglar has been sentenced to 30 months in prison.

Stuart Laverty, aged 33, from Nevis Grove broke in to a home in Fenny Stratford sometime between Friday, May 25 and Saturday, June 2 this year and stole jewellery and a ride-on-locomotive train worth a total £16,000.

He later returned the train but the jewellery has not been recovered. He was arrested at his home on Wednesday, June 6.

Laverty pleaded guilty at court on Monday.

DI Yvette Hitch, from Milton Keynes CID, said: "The numbers of burglaries of homes are relatively low across the borough. However, when an intruder does break in it can have devastating consequences for the occupants, whose sense of safety may be compromised.

"My team has worked tirelessly, and will continue to do so, to ensure that burglars are caught."

Pensioner injured in robbery

A PENSIONER was left injured and shaken after a man pushed her to the ground and robbed her of £12.

The 81-year-old woman was walking along the redway from the H5 Portway bridge towards Conniburrow at 6.40pm on Friday when the offender struck.

She was wheeling her shopping trolley when a man shoved her to the floor and stole her handbag.

DC Jo Pape said: "The offender attacked this vulnerable lady in broad daylight. He struck suddenly and used excessive force to achieve his aims. The handbag contained just £12 in cash as well as a few cards and personal items.

"The victim was extremely shaken by this attack and received treatment to her injuries by paramedics."

Police said the offender is black or has dark skin and aged in his late twenties or early thirties.

Anyone with information can contact DC Pape on 08458 505505.

Raw energy celebrates end of slavery

MILTON Keynes' young talent are to perform in an energy-packed dance show.

Seventy-five young people aged 13-19, who auditioned in April, are spending two weeks of their summer holidays with three choreographers and an award-winning artistic director rehearsing street, contemporary and modern jazz dance routines.

As part of the Milton Keynes Theatre's Raw summer dance project at MK Theatre, choreographers Andy Instone from Urban Strides and Helen Parlor and Nikki O'Hara from Motion House Dance Company will each work separately with a group of young dancers.

As this year marks the 200th anniversary of the abolition of slavery each group will be using this theme as a starting point then adding their own style of dance and individual personalities.

On August 24 the three groups will come together to perform in a big show at MK Theatre. There will also be a special guest appearance from the Doudoumba Drummers.

The performances will begin at 6pm and 8pm, and tickets cost £7.50 from MK Theatre Box Office on 0870 060 6652, or at www.miltonkeynestheatre.com.

Pub regular found dead in river Ouse

Martin Crowther: His body was found in the river

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

THE children of a man who was found dead in the River Great Ouse have paid tribute to a 'good father'.

Sixty-one-year-old Martin Crowther from The Close, Newton Blossomville was found by a search and rescue team in the river near Turvey last Tuesday (August 7).

He was reported missing by his daughter on Sunday, July 29.

An inquest, opened last Friday, was told Mr Crowther would routinely walk along the river between Newton Blossomville and Turvey to buy a paper and visit Ye Three Fyshes and the Three Cranes, where he was a regular customer.

He was last seen standing by a gateway to a field on July 23, and was understood to be on his way home.

Mr Crowther was a retired civil servant who had lived in the Newton Blossomville area for 20 years.

His children, who called him a 'very good father', said he was popular in the village.

"He was a very friendly man and was known by everybody," said Toby Poole, Mr Crowther's stepson. He always had time for anybody. He was part of the furniture really. He will be missed."

Mr Crowther was confirmed dead at the scene by a police surgeon.

As the body had been submerged for some time he was identified by personal items including his watch and cuff links, and by a scar on his right shin.

A post-mortem has been carried out but was inconclusive. Pathologists are awaiting further test results.

A full inquest will take place in October.

Men arrested after assault given bail

TWO men suspected of assaulting a 52-year old man, leaving him in a coma, have been granted bail.

The man suffered life-threatening head injuries after being asked to leave the Lowndes Arms public house in Whaddon at around 9pm on Saturday August 4.

He left with his female partner and was found shortly after with the injuries.

He was taken to Stoke Mandeville hospital but was transferred to the adult intensive care unit at John Radcliffe hospital, Oxford.

He remains in a serious but stable condition at the hospital.

Two men aged 40-years-old and 22-years-old have been arrested and bailed until the end of August in connection with the assault.

Anyone who witnessed the incident is asked to call DS Keeping at Amersham CID on 0845 8 505 505, or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

MILTON KEYNES 2007 GARDEN OF THE YEAR WINNERS

THE city's green fingered have been rewarded for their efforts. The results of this year's Milton Keynes Garden of the Year 2007 have been announced. Roman Way Garden Centre and MK NEWS teamed up once more for the prestigious award.

We have been thrilled and delighted at the number and quality of the entrants to the competition.

The amount of effort gone into developing some gardens is astonishing. Rosemary and Gordon Farr of Bletchley scooped first prize in the large garden category.

The couple have spent more than 20 years developing their unusual plot which includes several different rooms, five water features and a huge diversity of plants.

In contrast Anthony Tobia has only been working on his a few years but has created striking effects with structure and foliage colour. His garden picked up first prize in the small garden category.

The judging has been extremely difficult and in contrast to last year's blistering heat this year everyone had problems with the rain.

All our prizewinners will be invited to a prize giving at Roman Way Garden Centre in Potterspury at the end of August.

Well done to everyone who entered and if you were not successful this year please do have another go next year.

Centre's seal of approval

OAKGROVE Leisure Centre has received a seal of approval just over a year after it opened.

Hertsmere Leisure, the Charitable Trust that manages the centre in partnership with Milton Keynes Council, has achieved Quest registration, the UK Quality Scheme for Sport and Leisure.

This follows a mystery visit as well as an in depth assessment of all aspects of the centre's operation including staffing issues, marketing, environmental control, overall management, and health and safety.

Everyone a winner? You bet!

BETTING booths are now up and running at stadium:mk.

The Ladbrokes booths were ready just ahead of the first match of the season after the MK Dons hurriedly applied for an interim license through the courts.

Milton Keynes Council successfully consulted with relevant parties including the parish councillors, Milton Keynes councillors, Thames Valley Police, children's services and the Gambling Commission.

It is currently working to grant a permanent licence to the club.

Gambling will be allowed at the Denbigh North site Monday to Sunday from 7am until 10pm.

How far can you go?

DAYTONA has announced the return of its successful endurance team-racing event.

The Daytona 500, which was first held in May, is an endurance race for teams of two to eight drivers that is not governed by time but by distance.

It will take place on Sunday and, as before, comprises 500km of fast-paced, aggressive racing in Daytona's new hi-spec pro-karts on the international circuit.

If you mention the VPR07 code when you book your team will get a free practice session before the big day.

The first prize winner will be given full hospitality for four at Silverstone on September 16 for the Le Mans Series.

Other prizes will include Formula 1 Grand Prix merchandise.

To book a place, which costs £500 for a team, call 0845 644 5503 or visit www.daytona.co.uk.

Take a Walk on the Wildside

A CHARITY walk to raise money for a children's hospice is to be held on September 9.

The annual event, called Walk on the Wildside, will take place in the grounds of Woburn Abbey.

By completing the three mile route walkers will be supporting Keech Cottage which, every year, cares for hundreds of local children with life-limiting illnesses.

John Helm, events fundraiser at Keech Cottage said: "Everyone who takes part will be able to explore the deer park for free and get discounted entry into the Abbey itself, making it a great day out for all."

Walkers can set off any time between nine and 11am and the event is open to all ages. Dogs are welcome but must be kept on a lead.

All applicants must register prior to the event and there is a registration fee of £4 per person to cover administration costs.

Children under 16 can register for free but must be accompanied by an adult.

Visit www.pasque.org/walk, email events@pasque.org or contact John Helm on 01582 497849 to register and receive a fundraising pack.

Villagers join forces to fight new homes plans

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

An artist's impression of general housing on the proposed A421 development

VILLAGERS in the Wavendon area are against plans to build hundreds of houses nearby.

Milton Keynes Partnership (MKP), as local planning authority, has received three planning applications to build large numbers of homes near the village.

These include proposals for up to 1,600 homes on land at Glebe Farm, including two segments north of Wavendon, one south of the A421 and another south of the A5130 Newport Road, 840 homes on land at Eagle Farm stretching west of the M1 above junction 13 to Lower End Road and 850 homes on Wavendon Golf Course, south of the A421.

Wavendon Parish Council, Woburn Sands Town Council, Hulcote & Salford Parish Council and Aspley Guise Parish Council have joined forces against the proposals.

They claim the Glebe Farm and Eagle Farm applications are premature as the sites are designated strategic reserve and should not be coming forward for possible development until 2011 at the earliest.

"The necessary infrastructure, including the A421 duelling and J13 on the M1 improvements, will not be completed until 2014 at the earliest," added chairman of Wavendon Parish Council, David Hopkins.

"It is considered that the works on the A421 will be the trigger for development and thus development should not be considered until after these works are completed."

Additional objections are the density of housing, and that Wavendon Golf Course is designated open countryside and a valuable and much-used leisure resource.

The authorities are encouraging residents to send their comments to Milton Keynes Partnership.

The Glebe Farm and Eagle Farm applicants, partners Gallagher and Taylor Woodrow, say their reasons for submitting applications early are twofold: 'Firstly, the lead-in times associated with developing sites of this scale are significant often taking upwards of five years'.

"Secondly, we are attempting to ensure that these applications are ready for determination as and when Milton Keynes Council and Milton Keynes Partnership feel ready and able to release these sites for development'.

A spokesman for MKP said consultation has been carried out for the Glebe Farm and Eagle Farm applications and has been launched for the golf course proposals.

"In parallel with public consultation, MKP has started work on the technical assessment of the applications," she said.

"There are complex issues to address against adopted local and national policies and therefore a target date has not yet been set.

"Any representations made by the public or parish councils will be reported to the planning sub committee.

"As always the committee will be happy to hear from local interest groups and parish councils when it considers the applications."

To comment on the plans write to Abigail Morgan, Milton Keynes Partnership, Central Business Exchange 11, 414-428 Midsummer Boulevard, Central Milton Keynes, MK9 2EA, call 01908 353968, or e-mail abigailmorgan@englishpartnerships.co.uk by Friday August 31.

Cash-strapped dance group sees world title dreams fade

A TALENTED hip hop dance group could be about to see their dream of becoming world champions fade away.

Nemisis needs to find £7,000 to get to the international championship finals in LA and Germany next year.

The eight member group won the UK Idance UK hip hop championships 2007, postponing a tour to represent the UK.

Currently they are performing anywhere they can in an attempt to get enough cash together.

They need £6,000 for LA and £2,000 for Germany, by March 2008.

But they are still hugely short of their target, despite securing a regular monthly slot at under 18s night MKVibe held at Buddha Blue.

'Crew member' Ishe Chirimuuta said: "We have worked endlessly to be the best in the UK and that was recognised earlier this year but we have bigger plans for Nemisis and to go global and compete against hip hop dancers from other countries would be a dream come true.

"However, without support or sponsorship, it's looking increasingly unlikely no matter how hard we work."

They need to secure more bookings or work with a local company that can see the potential in the group.

She added: "We are prepared to do anything at all - that is how much it means to us. This is our passion and what we do best and we're prepared to demonstrate this to anyone if they just give us the chance."

The group was founded in 2005, and originally consisted of just three dancers. Now there are six , who call themselves 'a family'.

You can see Nemisis perform next at the MKVibe night on August 14 or see them online at www.myspace.com/nemisiscrew

To book a performance, contact Andy Jones on 01908 372145.

Arlene's axe falls on city dancer Ife

A CITY dancer was the first in her team to exit the stage in BBC's DanceX.

Twenty-two-year-old Ife Kuku was the first be chosen to leave 'Team Arlene' after five weeks performing in the live finals of the show, starring Strictly Come Dancing judges Arlene Phillips and Bruno Tonioli.

The two giants in the world of choreography are coming face-to-face as they search for a new dancing and singing group.

In this week's Viva Las Vegas show, the fifth in the series, Bruno's team took top spot forcing Arlene to choose her first member to go.

Ife went up against team mate Camilla in a final dance off to Everybody Needs Somebody.

Arlene chose to send Ife home even though she said Ife had, 'never let me down'.

Fans on the DanceX website have shown their support for the dancer.

One said: "I can't believe Ife's been dropped, she's such a star. Just wait, this isn't the last the British public has heard of her!"

And another: "That is the worst thing Arlene has ever done. Ife is so good, amazing, such an incredible dancer."

Ife, who was adopted by a family from Milton Keynes, now lives in Finchley, north London.

Migrants taught to speak English

PEOPLE from overseas living in Milton Keynes are being taught how to make a 999 call, how to chat with neighbours, and how to communicate with teachers and doctors.

A new programme has been launched to provide local people with free basic English speaking skills to make life easier for them to live and work in the city.

Up to 80 different languages are currently being spoken by people in Milton Keynes.

The Milton Keynes College Routes2Success scheme is now open to residents, aged 16-plus, who are living and working in selected areas of Milton Keynes who want to learn or improve their English language.

Linzi Halfpenny, the ESOL (English for Speakers of Other Languages) co-ordinator said: "It is very difficult for migrants to become part of their local communities. They feel isolated, lonely and intimidated. We know that some women have lived in Milton Keynes for 10 years but still cannot hold a conversation with their neighbours, or are unable to go to the doctors or dentist without being accompanied."

English speaking classes are running on Monday mornings in Conniburrow, with new classes starting in Fishermead, Springfield and Eaglestone in September.

Changes to Enduring Power of Attorney Rules

From October 2007, the ability to create an Enduring Power of Attorney will be banished forever.

Existing arrangements will be allowed to continue, but from October 2007 anyone wanting to put control of their money and property into the hands of someone else will have to follow a new procedure.
Neves are advising clients to plump for an Enduring Power of Attorney before it is too late because in October 2007 it will become much more complex. An EPA set up before the changes take place will remain valid.
The point of the Enduring Power of Attorney is to choose someone while you are well to look after your affairs when you aren't.
As things stand you can draw up a basic Power of Attorney to have someone act for you and help with straightforward tasks such as fetching money from the bank. But it runs out once you become unable to manage your affairs.
That's where the Enduring Power of Attorney or EPA comes in. You hand power over your property and money to someone else you trust. The power can start right now while you are well if you want it to, but the important feature of the Enduring Power of Attorney is that it continues when you're unable to manage.

The EPA is to be replaced by a new Lasting Power of Attorney which will come in 2 forms. The first is completely new. It covers decisions over health and welfare. The second deals with property and money as before.
However, the Lasting Power of Attorney will only be valid once it is registered with what's called the Office of the Public Guardian and a new fee paid to the Public Guardianship Office. The new fee is likely to be higher.
Granting a power of attorney is such a significant step that many people prefer to seek the help of a solicitor.
We can provide home visits.

City revellers set to face cops' hi-tech drugs search

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A NEW device has been launched to detect drugs on revellers entering city nightspots.

Milton Keynes police and partners have introduced a state-of-the-art machine that detects people contaminated with illegal drugs in order to make a night out in the city safer.

The ion track trace detector identifies minute samples of drugs within seconds.

Squares of paper are rubbed against clubbers' hands, clothing and personal items such as mobile phones, purses and wallets before being fed into the Itemiser. If any drugs have transferred onto the paper, it will show up.

Officers trialled the device, which cost tens of thousands of pounds, in April on people queuing to enter Lloyds No1 in the Theatre District and Oceana at Xscape.

Funding to buy the machine was secured from the Community Safety Partnership, Barwatch, Milton Keynes Council and Thames Valley Police.

The device will be used across the city in licensed premises.

Anyone found to be contaminated will be searched. Those contaminated but found with no drugs will be refused entry to the premises. If they are found in possession of drugs they will be arrested.

Lin Poizat, police area licensing officer, said: "The Itemiser is a major advance in technology which we can employ in the fight against illegal drug use.

"It will allow police and partners, in association with Barwatch and licensees, to take a zero tolerance regime to anyone contaminated by prohibited drugs.

"The Itemiser will be part of the ongoing Safer Streets campaign and will be used for the foreseeable future, making Milton Keynes a safer place to enjoy a night out."

Dozy drivers given a safety wake-up call

DOZY holiday motorists are getting a wake up call this week to alert them to the dangers of driving while tired as part of a Driver Fatigue Awareness Day.

Up to one in ten crashes are due to motorists falling asleep at the wheel or driving while tired.

Road safety officers from Milton Keynes Council will be at the M1 Newport Pagnell services on Friday to highlight the dangers.

Thames Valley Police and Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue will also be offering advice on the day to remind drivers not to risk their lives, especially when going on holiday and embarking on long journeys.

Vince Morley, Milton Keynes Council's road safety officer, said: "Driver fatigue can be a real danger on these journeys; falling asleep at the wheel can be fatal.

"Laboratory studies have shown that sleep does not occur without warning.

"Drivers who start to feel drowsy try to fight it off by opening a window or turning up the radio. This doesn't work!"

MR MORLEY'S SAFETY ADVICE

- Plan your journey to include a 15-minute break every two hours
- Find a safe place to stop if you feel drowsy - not the hard shoulder
- Drink two cups of coffee or a high-caffeine drink, then take a short nap to allow the caffeine to kick in
- Have a good night's sleep before setting out on a long journey
- Don't start a long trip if you're already tired
- Remember the risks if you have to get up unusually early,
- Try to avoid long trips between midnight and 6am and 2-4pm when natural alertness is low
- Share the driving if possible

Recent research commissioned by the Government found that falling asleep at the wheel accounts for up to 20 per cent of crashes on motorways or similar roads.

Flood plain fears: Fields around Stony Stratford under water after the heavy rain at the beginning of July

Expansion homes planned on land prone to flooding

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A CITY councillor is concerned about plans to build housing on land that was swamped by recent floods.

Plans for the growth of Milton Keynes submitted by Buckinghamshire County Council (BCC) and Aylesbury Vale District Council (AVDC) as part of the South East Plan examination earlier this year include up to 12,500 homes by 2031 on land east of the M1, between Moulsoe and North Crawley and south of Newport Pagnell.

Sherington ward councillor at Milton Keynes Council, Sam Potts, said the fields earmarked for development were flooded at the same time as heavy rain swamped the carnival field at Newport Pagnell and saw Stony Stratford under water at the beginning of July.

He is worried that building on this land will cause future problems.

"If you build on flood plains the water has got to go somewhere, so it will go through people's letter boxes," he said.

> You only have to go round Stoke Goldington and see the damage it caused to see that it is not a sensible solution.
> – Sherington ward councillor at Milton Keynes Council, Sam Potts

"You only have to go round Stoke Goldington and see the damage it caused to see that it is not a sensible solution."

The plans are part of a review that was jointly commissioned by the BCC and AVDC from Colin Buchanan & Partners, in response to the city regeneration agency Milton Keynes Partnership's (MKP) long-term growth strategy for Milton Keynes.

The councils commissioned the report as they believe the MKP strategy development process failed to properly consider the potential for development to the east of the M1 motorway.

Chris Kenneford, strategic planning manager at BCC, said: "The Buchanan study did propose expansion of MK to the east of the M1, but did not propose any building in the flood plain areas on that side of the motorway."

The report, and MKP's MK 2031 growth strategy, have been submitted to the South East of England Regional Assembly to be considered in the Government's plans to build 200,000 new homes in the south east, including 70,000 in Milton Keynes.

The proposals are being considered by an independent panel that presided at the South East Plan Examination in Public. The consultation ran from November 28, 2006 until March 30 this year, and is expected to lead to Government approval of a final South East Plan early next year.

"A report from the panel is due in the next couple of weeks," added Mr Kenneford.

"It will be interesting to see what weight they have attached to the Buchanan Report's proposals."

Osteoporosis – are you at risk?

Osteoporosis occurs when our bones become weak due to a reduction in density. It is a very common condition and one in two women, and one in five men in the UK over the age of 50 will break a bone, mainly due to osteoporosis*

Healthy bone is made up of a thick outer shell with a honeycomb of living tissue inside. As we get older the amount of tissue lost is more than is created, so our bones become weaker. With osteoporosis this happens more quickly.

Osteoporosis doesn't usually have any symptoms. In most cases the first sign is a fracture or broken bone, usually in the wrist, hip or spine after a minor bump or fall, or even a strain such as picking up something heavy.

How do I know if I'm at risk?

There are a number of factors that mean you may be at increased risk of osteoporosis, here are just a few:

- Age – it usually affects people over 55.
- Early menopause – before the age of 45.
- Long-term corticosteroid medication.
- Low levels of calcium and vitamin D.
- Family history of osteoporosis.
- A history of eating disorders.
- Long-term immobility.

How can I help prevent it?

You can help by taking general measures including the following:

- Eat a diet rich in calcium by including dairy products and some fruit and green leafy vegetables.
- Take in plenty of vitamin D, this is needed to help absorb calcium. Vitamin D is found in some foods including milk, eggs and oily fish. It is also absorbed from the sun through your skin, though be careful of excessive exposure to the sun.
- Regularly undertake strength training and weight bearing exercise.
- Don't smoke as this can reduce your bone density.
- Avoid excessive alcohol.
- Limit caffeine intake.

What should I do if I think I'm at risk?

If you have any concerns, you should visit your GP who will discuss what to do next. They may refer you for a special scan called a DEXA scan, which is a quick, simple and painless test to assess your bone's density. You can also book a private DEXA scan without a GP referral.

If you do have osteoporosis, there are a number of treatments that can help, which your doctor will discuss with you.

There are a number of websites that offer more detailed information about osteoporosis, here are two:

Osteoporosis screening

Are you worried about osteoporosis?

As we get older our bones naturally become less dense. For many people this leads to osteoporosis, a condition where the bones become fragile and are more likely to break.

Osteoporosis screening from BMI Healthcare, the UK's No1 private hospital group, aims to find out if you have osteoporosis or if you are at risk of developing it.

Barn free: Willen Hospice community care team members look forward to moving into their new accommodation

Like living in a barn

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A DISUSED barn at Willen Hospice is being turned into accomodation for the care team.

Currently the community care workers at the hospice are suffering cramped conditions.

Now, having found the final chunk of money from donations by logistics providers Gazeley and Land Securities, the work can take place.

Willen Hospice, a charity providing specialist care for terminally ill people, has to raise £2 million a year to keep up with demand.

The money from the two companies was raised from an event auctioning industrial machinery recently held at the new Magna Park logistics park, formerly known as Fen Farm.

Christopher Eyes, chief executive of Willen Hospice, said: "The donation means we will be able to give the best possible service to our patients and puts us in a stronger position to meet the rising need for our service within the community.

"We have now raised the £150,000 we needed for our barn conversion, however we still need to raise over £40,000 to extend our day hospice. Gazeley has always been a great supporter of ours and this latest contribution highlights their valued place within our family of donors."

Don Morgan from Gazeley, said: "We always try to find ways to give back to the communities in which we operate, and Willen Hospice plays a vital role supporting so many people in Milton Keynes.

"The work they do makes a huge difference to the lives of both the patients and the families of those being cared for, it really is a great cause."

Work on the barn conversion is due to start in September 2007.

Get in the swim with discount card

MORE and more people in Milton Keynes are taking advantage of up to half price swimming and sports activities thanks to the innovative Passport to Leisure card.

The discount scheme is run by Milton Keynes Council to make sport and leisure activities more affordable to those that are less well off.

More than 20 leisure centres, parks and other leisure companies are now offering discounts to holders of the access card.

The leisure passport offers many residents the chance to apply for the discount card including those families receiving working tax credit, pensioners and students as well as people in receipt of other state benefits such as job seeker's allowance.

The card costs £5 plus an extra £1 per child (£3 if not added at time of joining) to unlock benefits such as swimming at Bletchley Leisure Centre which allows card holders to swim for 50p for an adult and only 10p for a child. Renewals are free.

Other sports and leisure firms offering discounts to card holders include Shenley Leisure Centre, Windmill Hill Golf Club, Woughton Centre, Snozone, Tattenhoe, Oakgrove and Middleton Pavilions.

Cllr Euan Henderson, cabinet member responsible for sports and community services, said: "The Passport to Leisure card plays an important role in allowing the less well off in our community to have equal access to sporting facilities."

'Keepy uppy' king is on the ball at Buddha Blue

alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

'KEEPY uppy' maestro Dan Magness is to perform at Buddha Blue as part of changes to the nightclub that will see 'unconventional' entertainment being brought in.

The overhaul is beginning with the 23-year-old UK champion football freestyler who blows half time crowds away at football grounds across the country.

He will demonstrate skills ranging from his ability to balance a football on the top of his head and rolling it around his face, to heading the ball repeatedly while lying flat on the floor.

At the age of 17 Dan became the UK keepy uppy champion after keeping a football up 13.5 hours, involving over 100,000 touches

On August 25 he will entertain revellers at Buddha Blue, interacting with them both inside and outside of the club.

Robin Lyle, general manager at Buddha Blue, is behind the changes at the venue.

He said: "We want customers to engage with the entertainment and go away talking about their experience.

"Stilt walkers and fire eaters are OK but they no longer have the wow factor which I want to bring to Milton Keynes."

Dan has trained professional footballers to do some of his tricks including Robbie Keane, Steven Gerrard and Freddie Ljungberg.

In 2007, he will represent England in the World Football Freestyle Championships in South Africa. He is tipped to come in the top three.

Buddha Blue will be revealing its next performer in the coming weeks. – to see Dan in action, just turn up on the night.

Salt and battery: Deborah and Stephen Wilding with assistants Joanne and Claire and community cop Kerry Falmer

We all hope it's chips, it's chips

BROUGHTON Fish & Chips has received an award for exceptional standards in food quality and hygiene.

Owners of the shop on Tanfield Lane, Stephen and Deborah Wilding, were presented the Seafish Friers Quality Award by Mayor of Milton Keynes, Mike Barry, and his wife, Cheryl, last week.

The couple said they are delighted to gain the award so soon after taking over the shop in April.

The owners moved from Biggleswade, where they ran a successful chip shop which was regional winner for central England in the Fish & Chip Shop of the Year Competition two years running in 2005 and 2006.

To qualify for the award each shop has to pass an inspection assessing its image, staff training, equipment, management, frying and sales skills and, most importantly, the quality of the product.

School started

BUILDING work has started on a new multi-million pound primary school in Tattenhoe Park

The bulldozers moved in on Friday to start clearing the land for a 420 pupil primary school to serve a new community of 1,700 homes planned for the area.

The new building will have many environmentally friendly features and will be designed around a central courtyard area, offering protected social space for students, overlooked by bright & airy teaching spaces.

The school is due to open in 2008 in time for the new school year and has already started accepting admissions for the primary school being built to meet the needs of children aged from four to 11 years living in Tattenhoe Park and Kingsmead south areas.

In addition, the school will provide a 30 place nursery on site to act as a feeder to the main school.

The predominately single storey school will be at the centre of the new community development focused around an old style town square, and next to new community facilities and playing fields.

Another main feature of the school building, designed by Milton Keynes Councils design arm Architecture MK, is a library and parents room overlooked by a feature gallery.

Cllr Euan Henderson, cabinet member responsible for the city's school building programme, said: "Milton Keynes Council is investing millions of pounds in new schools and Tattenhoe Park Primary School promises to be another excellent example of using modern design to provide the best environment for our children to learn."

More than 80 children have already applied for admission to the new school that will transfer pupils to the nearby The Hazeley School when they reach 11 years old.

Fenny Poppers Festival

19TH AUGUST 2007

ON Sunday 19th August, from 11am to 6pm, in Aylesbury Street Fenny Stratford you will be able to enjoy this unique festival, which is planned to commence once a year every summer; but what is it all about?

From 1895 to1974 Fenny Stratford formed an urban district with Bletchley and was included in the designated "new city" area of Milton Keynes in 1967. The town was recorded in manorial rolls in 1252, being an ancient market town, Fenny Stratford was the location of a weekly market for many years until 1665. On St Martins day 1724 the first stone was laid in the construction of the new parish church of Fenny Stratford, it was funded by Brown Willis, a historian of the day, in memorial to his grandfather Dr Thomas Willis, famous for his pioneering research into the anatomy of the brain, nervous system and nerves. To perpetuate his own memory Brown Willis funded a yearly sermon at the church on St Martins day and also paid for the gunpowder used for firing the 6 'Fenny Poppers' ceremonial cannons at noon, 2pm and 4pm. St

Martins Church is believed to be the only church in England that possess a gunpowder license and the tradition has continued since. The Poppers were also fired to mourn the death of Queen Victoria in 1901, on Jan1st 2000 to mark the beginning of the 2nd Millennium and 4th August in honour of the Queen Mother's 100th birthday. It was felt that with this unique history Fenny had something to shout about and so the origin of the 2007 Fenny Festival began.

The objective was to organise a fun day for the family and to celebrate an area of Milton Keynes that truly has a long historical significance. A charitable element of the festival is to raise money for the church as well as raising awareness of the extremely diverse and experienced range of businesses, specialists and services located within Fenny Stratford.

There will be a stage with plenty of entertainment including On Point a group of hip-hop street dancers with ages from 5 to 25, jazz music, swing and rat pack music, salsa demonstrations and Martin Murphy a talented singer who performed in front of 80,000 people with Robbie Williams. 50 metres of the street will be covered in lawn, supplied by Bletchley turf, creating a picnic area for everyone to enjoy and a fairground will be located further up the street including a Ferris wheel. There will be bouncy castles, sumo wrestling and a church fete, ensuring there is something for everyone.A large tank will also be set up for the day enabling people to try scuba diving in the middle of the street! The Fenny Poppers cannons will be fired at 2pm from the church. This truly is going to be a festival with a difference. Most of the business of the area will have stalls enabling visitors to appreciate the amazing range of services in this historical area, including discounts, special offers and lots of free give-aways.

The historical association will have a stall as well as conducting a guided historical tour of Fenny for those too overwhelmed by the entertainments, attractions and food festival. There will be competitions on stage such as limbo for the kids and the Fenny relay race & trophies for the winners as well as prize draws at a lot of the stands too. There will be two main prizes one is to win a complete open water diver course, for this amazing prize visit Pam at Dive Central's stall for entry to this. The other main prize is a free to enter prize draw to win a stay at the luxurious Hartwell House Spa Hotel set within 9 beautiful acres in Aylesbury, with all the trimmings including dinner, overnight stay and breakfast. For free entry to this competition go to the Milton Keynes Chiropractic Clinic stall. So come and play, drink, eat, relax on the lawn, enjoy the entertainment and fairground rides, take part in the competitions, experience the history of a vibrant diverse market town, witness the firing of the historical Fenny Poppers Cannons and enjoy the best of Fenny Stratford the historic town with a unique life of its own. Come and give your support and enjoy the festival from 11am till 6pm on Sunday 19th August in Aylesbury Street, the heart of Fenny Stratford.

‘Hot spot’ targets reducing crime

New strategy ‘is working’ as levels fall after sharp rise early last year

CITY crime levels were down in the first three months this year.

Milton Keynes’ Community Safety Partnership says the drop is proof their new strategy is working.

Richard Solly, community safety manager, said: “In the partnership we have developed a new way of working together, and I am sure that this has helped to drive down levels of crime and anti-social behaviour.

“Once a fortnight police, council, fire, probation officers and others meet together to determine the hot spots and direct resources there.

“This has certainly resulted in a much more focused approach to crime reduction.

“Our challenge is to continue this excellent working relationship at a time when all our budgets are under pressure.”

All crime also fell in the three months to the end of June by more than 12 per cent, resulting in 937 fewer crimes.

> These figures are obviously good news and represent the hard work carried out by my officers, and our partners, to make Milton Keynes an even safer place
> – City police boss Ch Supt John Liversidge

The only rises were in wounding (excluding domestic abuse), which was up 15 per cent, and common assault in domestic abuse, up five per cent.

Chief Superintendent John Liversidge, police commander for Milton Keynes, added: “These figures are obviously good news and represent the hard work carried out by my officers, and our partners, to make Milton Keynes an even safer place.

“The beginning of last year was a particularly hard time for us when we saw a sharp rise in the reporting of crime.

“I am confident that together we can continue the fight against crime.”

Lock-up garages torched

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

GARAGES that the council refused to refurbish have been torched yet again.

The garages, at the back of Walnut Drive and Aylesbury Street in Bletchley, were boarded up in May in an attempt to solve the problems.

They have long been afflicted by drinkers and littering and have attracted arsonists on many occasions.

Last week, three months after they were boarded up, they were set alight again on Thursday night.

In a bizarre twist, it happened while the issue was being discussed at a Neighbourhood Action Group meeting.

Firefighters were called just after 8.20pm. A crew from Great Holm and a crew from Bletchley attended.

Just before they were boarded up former councillor Tony Mabbott said: "Four of the new-style garage doors have been ripped off their hinges and a number of others look vulnerable.Local residents believe that this is the start of the annual seasonal upsurge in anti-social behaviour, and I can't say I disagree wtih them."

By lobbying the council over the garages, Cllr Mabbott was able to encourage officers to arrange to have them boarded up.

Cllr Mabbott said: "Whatever the long term plans for these garages are, something needs to be done now.

"There is an urgent need to tackle anti-social behaviour now. It's been over a year that the council has been pondering what to do.

"I would hope the police, fire service and council can get together and sort this out, there must be some way of dealing with it."

Station manager Chris Gill attended the fire and they used two sets of breathing apparatus, one hose reel and a thermal imaging camera.

Everything in Orchard House's garden's lovely: Resident Bill Madison tends tomatoes with occupational therapist Janet Walters

Orchard grows a garden

RESIDENTS at an old people's shelter have a new garden thanks to a £20,000 grant from MK Council's Housing Forum.

The Orchard House sheltered housing scheme in Wolverton has 14 permanent residents and 14 intermediate care flats for people needing short-term rehabilitation.

It focuses on supporting people to regain independence so they can safely return home.

The grant has been used to create a fully landscaped garden incorporating seating, tall planters for tomatoes and a herb garden for residents who cook for themselves.

The driving force behind the garden is Ruth Joy, an occupational therapist at the unit.

Ruth said: "We started the process a couple of years ago and asked residents what they would like to see in the garden, what kinds of plants and vegetables.

"The idea was to make it low maintenance and create an area where people can enjoy watching the squirrels and birds."

Cllr Irene Henderson, the council cabinet member responsible for older people's services, said: "The transformation is quite remarkable and will make a real contribution to the residents."

Boffin bars Mars pub name change

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

OPENING a pub isn't rocket science – but in Yardley Gobion it wouldn't phase the landlord if it was.

A space scientist from the Open University has reopened the Coffee Pot pub on the High Street.

Tim Ringrose, 39, worked with planetary scientist Professor Colin Pillinger on the Beagle 2, the probe that was meant to land on Mars on Christmas Day 2003.

Now one city resident has come up with a novel suggestion to rename Mr Ringrose's pub the Mars Bar.

Bryan Rimmer, who is the man behind the idea, said: "It really would be very apt."

Mr Ringrose is currently working on the European Space Agency ExoMars mission, which involves 14 countries and has a budget of more than £400m.

He said: "Someone mentioned it to me that this man had suggested this.

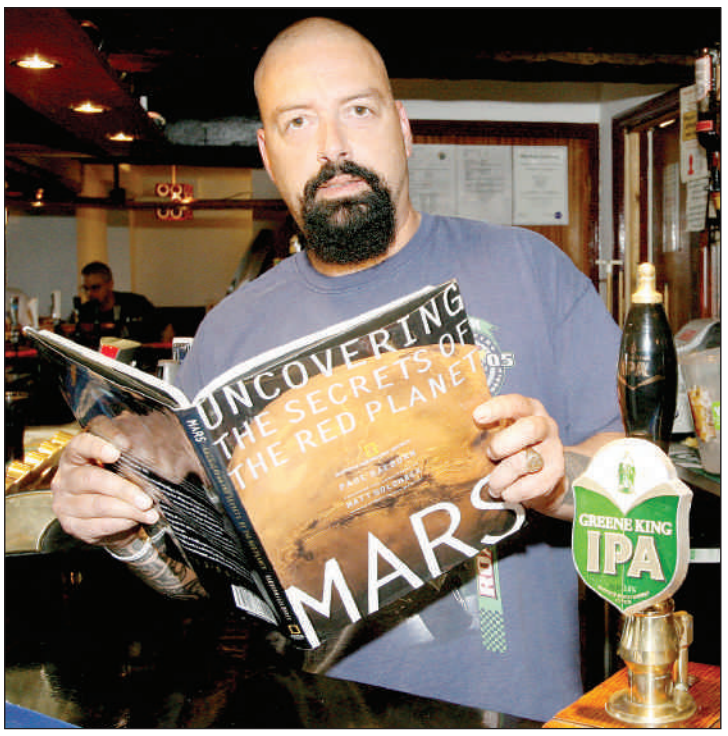
"We had a group meeting and I did mention it. Everyone kind of laughed and then brushed past it.

"I don't think I would go to the lengths of renaming it the Mars Bar."

Another link is that Helen Sharman, a scientist researching into the chemical and physical properties of chocolate for the Mars company in Slough, was chosen from 13,000 hopefuls to be the first British female to go up into space in 1963.

Mr Rimmer said: "If Mars didn't object, he could even give out little mini Mars bars at the pub."

Tracey Ringrose, Mr Ringrose's wife who runs the Coffee Pot, said: "To be honest, it's funny but it's not going to happen. I actually like the name we've already got because its so unusual."



Work, rest and play: Coffee Pot landlord and space scentist Tim Ringrose

Cops' warning after thieves target cars

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

POLICE have issued a warning to motorists after a spate of car crime in the Willen area

In the last four weeks 10 cars parked at Gullivers Lane, two in Willen Park, two in Willen and four in Downhead Park have been broken into.

Officers have stepped up patrols in the area as well as using CCTV to catch the offenders.

Crime reduction advisors have also been out taking vehicle details from those with items left on display as part of the Empty Car Campaign, launched last year.

A letter with a crime reduction pack is then sent to the registered owner warning them of the dangers.

Among the items that have been taken in the past month are a number of satellite navigation systems.

Chris Bunning, crime reduction advisor for Milton Keynes police, said: "Thefts of this kind can be avoided easily.

"All drivers have to do is remove the system, along with any other electrical equipment or items of value from the car when they park.

"Most thieves are opportunists and if they see something valuable in a vehicle they will break in to get it.

"You only have to leave your vehicle a short time for an opportunist thief to act."

Route of all evil: Sat nav systems have become car thieves' top target

Take your chances free in Hazard Alley

HAZARD Alley in Kiln Farm is having an open day.

Visitors can gain free entry to the centre and enjoy its 12 simulated scenes from everyday life which raise safety awareness.

There will also be displays by Buckinghamshire Fire and Rescue Service and Thames Valley Police.

Director Jan Alder said: "Although the centre was primarily designed to educate children, it can be a challenging experience for adults too to learn more about being safe and finding practical ways to avoid accidents."

It takes place on Sunday August 19 from 10am until 4pm.

Gallery discussion to focus on 60s culture

HIPPIES, free love and pop music all spring to mind when you think of the 1960s.

But what else?

A panel is to discuss all aspects of culture from the decade at Milton Keynes Gallery tomorrow.

Made up of artists, a designer, writers and an architect, the group will talk in the surroundings of the gallery's exhibition entitled Circa 1967.

The event has been designed to celebrate Milton Keynes' 40th birthday.

The panel consists of artists Fionnuala Boyd and Les Evans, fabric designer Susan Collier, Muriel Wolson who was curator at the British Council in the 60s, architect Ken Baker and writer and curaror Martin Holman.

Admission to the exhibition is free. To attend or join in the discussion, call 01908 676 900 or go to www.mk-g.org

City to get fourth Sure Start centre

BY LAURA HANNAM
laura.hannam@mk-news.co.uk

A NEW Sure Start children's centre is to be opened in Bradville.

Permission was granted by Milton Keynes Council's Development and Control Committee for an extension to Pepper Hill County First School, Kingsfold, Bradville in order to house a new Sure Start centre.

The unit is part of a Government programme which aims to provide integrated services for children and families by giving access to family support and parental outreach, child and family health services, training and job advice, links with schools and the Children and Families Information Service.

The plans at Pepper Hill also include extending the existing playground, erection of an external play area and external alterations to provide ramped access.

Two more sites have also been earmarked in Milton Keynes for Sure Start children's centres, in Central Bletchley and Conniburrow.

The new centres will join the three other existing Sure Start centres in Fullers Slade, Netherfield and in Water Eaton.

The council cabinet gave the go ahead on July 17, and also gave support to plans for even more of these centres, funding pending.

> Sure Start centres are the way forward for child care provision but they provide a whole 'wraparound service' – not just for the youngsters themselves but for mum and dad too

– Cllr Sandra Clark, MK Council cabinet member responsible for children

Cllr Sandra Clark, cabinet member responsible for children, said: "Sure Start centres are the way forward for child care provision but they provide a whole 'wraparound service' – not just for the youngsters themselves but for mum and dad too."

The Government announced this week that MK Council will receive £17m over the next three years for early years and childcare, including £11m to expand the number of Sure Start centres.

MP for Milton Keynes South East, Dr Phyllis Starkey, has welcomed the decision.

"Everybody knows that the early years are crucial to a child's development and their future prospects," she said.

"The Sure Start Centres in Fullers Slade, Water Eaton and Fishermead have been fantastic for providing extra childcare and early years support services.

" I am delighted the Government is giving MK Council new funding to expand provision across the city."

She added: "Every three and four year old is now entitled to a free early years education place for 12.5 hours per week over 38 weeks, and nearly 6,000 children in Milton Keynes are already benefiting.

"The Government's aim is by 2010 every child will be entitled to 15 hours per week, on the road to a long term goal of 20 hours per week of free early years provision."

DON'T MISS THIS

THE citizens of Fenny Stratford have invoked their Royal Charter for this weekend's festivities and revived an ancient decree allowing them to hold a festival in the town.

Well actually it was a charter for a market dating back 800 years but the principle is the same.

The Fenny Poppers Festival, the first in recent times, is being held this Sunday along Aylesbury Street which has been closed off to accommodate the fun.

A grassed area for picnics, Keith Emmetts fun Fair, a scuba diving tank and food stalls from the Chinese, Indian & Italian restaurants form some of the attractions on offer throughout the day from 11.30am 6pm.

Live music will be provided by Martin Murray and the last time he was in Milton Keynes, he was supporting Robbie Williams at the Bowl. Also taking the stage on the day will be the Fenny Stompers, Street & Hip Hop performers, Salsa dancers, DJ's and at 2.00 pm, the firing of the Fenny Poppers themselves in the churchyard of St Martins.

With good weather predicted for the weekend, sponsors Bletchley Turf has agreed to provide a grassed area in front of the stage to allow people to bring their own food and drink although, due to licensing laws, alcohol has to be consumed in certain areas only. The two pubs, The Bull & Butcher and The Malsters are throwing open their doors and the various food outlets that adorn Aylesbury Street are having stalls outside to display the wide range of culinary delights the town has to offer.

" The local businesses have been working very hard to plan this event," said Jon Gregory one of the event organisers who runs a recruitment consultancy from Fenny Stratford, "I personally feel very proud of our little community and would like to thank everyone who has given their time to make this happen."

The organisers are hoping to make this an annual event in future and anyone wishing to contribute can contact Jon on 01908 642144.

SHUT UP AND DRIVE

Rihanna

SHE does like to echo the name of her songs, doesn't she? Not content with singing 'Umbrella ella ella', here she sings 'Shut up and drive drive drive drive'.

Now, if you've just spent longer at Number One than the entire chart runs of McFly's last two singles, you really ought to release something completely different just to prove you're not a one trick pony.

The tune's completely different, it's Blue Monday, but she hasn't sampled the original version, oh no. Not for Rihanna the obvious route, instead she's sampled a cover by American rock band Orgy, so it's a fair bit harder.

I'm also fairly sure the lyrics are using cars as an excuse to talk about something else entirely, after all why else would she say 'You look like you can handle what's under my hood / You keep saying that you will, boy, I wish you would'? Let's be frank here (well, you can, I'm still going to be Simon), this isn't going to win any awards, but it's probably not the worst thing I'm going to hear today..

MAMMOTH

Interpol

THIS is a great song, in fact, I'd go so far as to say this is even better than The Heinrich Manoeuver.

It goes along at a rattling pace, contains a couple of naughty words and the arrangement reminds me of how New Order used to sound in their Movement era days.

Some people say they didn't get going until Temptation, but I disagree – their earliest stuff has a wonderfully nervy, relentless, drawing-a-line-in-the-sand-and-moving-on feel to it and that's exactly what you get here.

This is a band that's still improving, and if that's the case God alone knows what they'll put out next. More of this sort of thing, please.

THE ANGRY MOB

Kaiser Chiefs

I'M a sucker for songs that change direction completely – when it's done right, it can work brilliantly.

Franz Ferdinand's Take Me Out is a good example, Depeche Mode's Personal Jesus (the album version) is another.

Here, it's done absolutely right. The first three minutes are fairly poppy, but with something of a dark edge to the proceedings – my personal interpretation of it is that this is the band's view of the influence of the tabloid press, specifically the red-tops – but then the whole outlook changes. The tune embraces gloom and doom, and instead of going bing starts going bong instead. The tempo slows, the beat's more tribal and even the lyrics change from verse-chorus-verse to a repetitive chant that builds up until the end and that's where the song really scores – it doesn't return to its poppy start, it ends on a very downbeat note indeed – and I love it.

HURRICANE

Athlete

WELL, this is the hardest single I think I've ever heard from Athlete.

Trouble is, there's something about it that leaves me a little bit underwhelmed.

My take is this – if you gave Keane guitars they could conceivably come up with a tune not a million miles away from this. But although this goes along at a brisk enough pace, for me it's one of those tunes that's been produced with the safety catch on.

ALICE IN CODEBREAKERSLAND

DON'T be late for a very important date at Bletchley Park.

The former Second World War codebreakers' home is celebrating Lewis Carroll and his Alice stories, Adventures in Wonderland and Through the Looking Glass.

Carroll, whose real name was Reverend Charles Lutwidge Dodgson, was a mathematician and logician who, like the Bletchley Park codebreakers, enjoyed playing with words.

At the end of the First World War codebreakers staged an Alice-themed pantomime, newly-published this summer.

During the Second World War the codebreakers even made up a Bletchley Park version of Carroll's Jabberwocky poem.

The day will be packed with activities for children and adults alike, including competitions and quizzes, games, readings, workshops, displays and lectures.

Highlights will include the attendance of Alice and the Mad Hatter at a Mad Hatter's Tea Party.

There will be a talk entitled Decoding Alice, about Rev Dodgson and Alice and one called The Author as Mathematician by James Beattie of Christ Church College, Oxford.

A number of Alice-related displays will include wartime versions of the Jabberwocky poem and the British Library computer facsimile version of the original hand-written Alice Underground book given to the real Alice by Dodgson (this was later sold to an American collector and then returned to the UK in thanks for the country's role during the war).

The Bletchley Park Post Office will be selling special edition children's commemorative covers and, for anyone wanting to find out more about CL Dodgson, they can visit the Lewis Carroll Society stall.

The usual range of Bletchley Park attractions will also be open to visitors.

■ For more information on the Alice event, telephone 01908 640404, or visit www.bletchley-park.org.uk

Summer of Love

GROOVE ON DOWN to Xscape all this August, where The Summer of Love is now in full flow! You've got until Thursday to catch the action at Carnaby Street then the mood changes and the event becomes that little bit more chilled out, at the Fabulous Hippie Fest! On Friday, Horizon Radio will be broadcasting their drivetime show live from Xscape, and Wes will be running around trying to get as many HUGS as he can! So, if you want to hug a hippie, and have the chance of winning £250 to spend in Xscape, get yourself down to the Summer of Love event!

Don't forget, you can enter our competition to win a shopping spree at Xscape and claim your free festival lanyard by visiting www.xscape.co.uk/mknews, today!

Win a Wii with Universal Pictures

THIS WEEK to celebrate the release of Evan Almighty at Cineworld, we have teamed up with Universal Pictures to offer one lucky reader a fabulous prize package worth over £500, including a Nintendo Wii!

For your chance to win, visit the 'What's On' pages at www.xscape.co.uk. Whilst you're there, you can also check out the film times for Evan Almighty, and the other great movies showing this week at Cineworld.

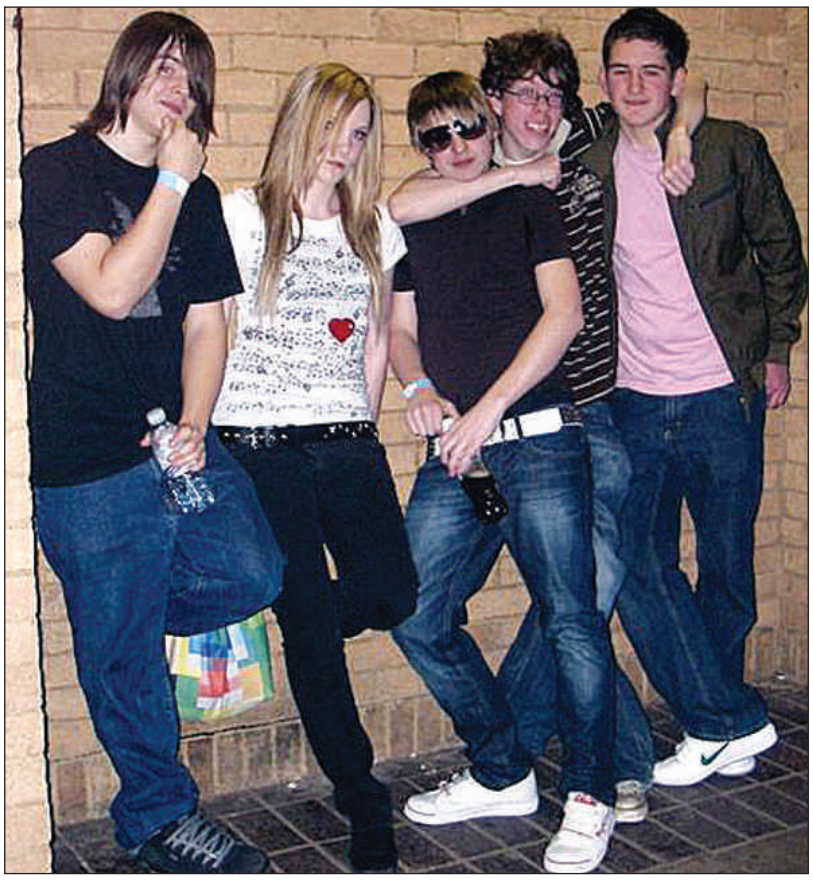
SUMMER PUNK AND SKA ATTACK
Wednesday, August 15

1 PICKLED DICK
A THREE-PIECE rock/punk/pop musical outfit. Their debut 14-track album Panda-Moanium (2005) and six-track EP Xercise Your Demons (2006) were recorded by Peter Miles (Captain Everything!, Howards Alias, King Blues).

2 HENRY AND THE BLEEDERS
FORMED in the winter of 2004, initially playing a mixture of 1950s covers and hardcore punk songs. With the additions of a stand-up bass, a saxophone and an acoustic guitar, the two styles merged with other influences leaving them with a form of music combining the raw and wild delinquency of vintage Rockabilly with the hard and modern edge of Punk Rock. Throw in some traditional R&B and a little Hillbilly and you get close to the sound.

3 FRANK BUTCHER AND THE SLAGS
FORMED midway through 2006 from just north of London. In under a year, they have recorded a four-track EP The Scene Is On Its Knees and have played with bands such as The King Blues, Gallows, Babar Luck, The Steal, Dave House and many more. They recently won battle of the bands at Parmiters, judged by Lew Froy (Captain Everything!).

4 SHOW YOUR STRIPES
PLAY poppy punk rock that sounds like a speeded up version of US Punk rock legends Jawbreaker and Comeback Kid.
Tickets £5 adv. Doors 7.30pm.



BAND BLITZ 2007
Heat four
Friday, August 17

THE UNTOLDS, left
A five-piece band who first realised their talent from a competition within thier school. Keep you ears open for one amazing unique sound.

HIDING IN RENO
ANOTHER five-piece pop punk/powerpop band. They are now in the process of writing new songs to bring to you lovely people.

NO ADMITTANCE
OLLY, James, Lewis and Dave are a simple rock band playing random rock covers, and also write some of our own songs.

SILVER PANIC BUTTON
A THREE-PIECE post-rock, alternative band taking inspiration from pretty much every genre and style of music in the rock scene.
Tickets £5.
Doors 7.30pm.

SUMMER SHOWCASE
Presenting the very best in underground alternative bands
Wednesday, August 22

ACTION BEAT
AN improv noise no-wave band which is often made up of musicians They sound quite like early sonic youth (without singing), Glenn Branca, and Rhys Chatham, but no two sets are ever the same.

DAWN CHORUS
TAKING their influence from such acts as Faraquet, Modest Mouse and Black Eyes this is the band's first MK show in a couple of years.

RIOTMEN
A LOUD punk rock band, influenced mainly by Shellac, Jesus Lizard, Fugazi, Sonic Youth ect. Really energetic, with guitars and bodies flying all over the place.

AHJUPROP
Hip Hop, Experimental, Electronica project. This is the band's first gig at the Pitz club and something a little different to the usual hairy rockers.
Plus guests
REPTILIAN AMBUSH AND MORE POWER
Tickets £5. Doors 7pm.

MK THEATRE

GIRLS BEHIND
August 28-September 1
THREE young women with three different pasts and different hopes for the future find friendship when they come together every Friday night to sing at the Star Club. Together they form the sensational singing trio The Diamonds. Stars Maurenn Nolan and Donna Hazelton.

THE CAR MAN
September 4-8
ANOTHER spectacular production. Matthew Bourne's latest is loosely based on Bizet's popular opera and has one of the most thrilling and instantly recognisable scores.
The familiar 19th century Spanish cigarette factory becomes a greasy garage-diner in 1960s America.

PARKLIFE

Download and then go walkies

AT last summer is sizzling and there has never been a better time to get out and enjoy the parks for free.

Many of Milton Keynes' parks are a haven of tranquillity and great places to take a short stroll with the family or a more energetic hike.

To help get you started The Parks Trust has a variety of self-guided walks to download from its website or alternatively you can join one of the many groups that regularly walk through Milton Keynes' stunning parks.

The Women's Walking Network is a great way to get to know your city's parks better and to meet new people. Walks take place monthly throughout the year.

If you'd like to meet other parents, or grand parents, and enjoy the fresh air join Pushchairs in the Park.

To keep tiny feet active and minds enthralled each trail follows a route of cuddly toys through the park. You can stay longer for arts, crafts and play fun after each walk.

If you're a wildlife or history lover as well as a walker join one of a fantastic selection of specialist walks for all ages.

Many people new to Milton Keynes have discovered the city's history and explored new areas through these walks.

We love to see you and your dog enjoying the parks – here's a few parks that should be top of your dog's 'must sniff' list: Emerson Valley, Furzton Lake, Lodge Lake, Willen Lake South.

For more information about dog-friendly parks and how you can help us to take care of the parks by being a responsible dog owner visit www.theparkstrust.com

THE PHAT PASTY CO
Mobile snack wagon
01908 217257
Review by MK News newsroom

HAVING packed lunches day in, day out becomes monotonous.

So the ring of the pasty van's bell is a welcome sound in our office.

The Phat Pasty Co delivers to offices and business parks in Milton Keynes from a funky-looking van with a surf board on top.

Their pasties are made near Newquay, frozen while raw, then brought here where they are oven-baked each morning.

Ten varieties, priced between £2.25 and £2.50, sitting alongside baguettes, sandwiches, salads, rolls, make a visit to the pasty van a must.

I had steak and onion, which was piping hot and crammed full with filling, and my colleague said the same about his 'tremendous' lamb and mint pasty (£2.35).

Other favourites were the spicy chicken and the medium traditional Cornish, which was 'just as a traditional Cornish should be'.

Another colleague opted for cheese and onion (£2.25), while another went for a pizza pod (£1.95) which she really enjoyed.

Everyone commented on how perfect the pastry was.

The van also has a soup of the day (£1.50) which the Phat Controller makes freshly each morning.

I tried the Thai vegetable, which was so tasty that it's now going to become a staple part of my diet.

The beef and horseradish baguette (£2.50) and mozarella and vine ripened tomato sandwich (£2.25) also went down a treat.

We had smoothies (£1.25), also blended freshly each morning. The flavour changes daily, but we had the enjoyable 'very berry' which is a mix of yoghurt and berries.

We rounded off our feast with some little pots of fruit (£1.25). The strawberries came with cream which was a bonus.

For the more health conscious among us, the Phat Pasty Co also has a range of 'phin' sandwiches and baguettes, made with low fat mayo.

Safe to say, the Phat Pasty van remains our favourite of all the snack vans that come to our office each day. And that's probably why the company is launching nationally later this year.

Russell's Love & Relationship Horoscopes

Aries (Mar21-Apr20)
Just how organised as an Aries are you? Call my Aries advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why good preparation is the key to success if you're to get what you want in the long run. Being organised and using your skills, energy and time wisely is essential as it could make all the difference to your chances over the next few days. Your confidence and faith in your abilities coupled with good planning should bring results you will be proud of.

Taurus (Apr21-May21)
If you have the choice between travel or staying put, you're likely to stay put. You might make a start on refurbishment ideas you've been mulling over for some time. You will achieve more by getting on without involving others. Call my Taurean advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why it will be a smart move to make changes around the old homestead while housemates or teenagers are likely to be away from home or are preoccupied with other things

Gemini (May22-June21)
You don't mind having to catch up on your visiting but you could be surprised at how much time this takes out of your week. Volunteering to run a few errands for a sick neighbour or elderly relative could be a lot more complicated than expected. Call my Gemini advice line 09065 504 342to hear why it would be a very good idea to contact an old friend you've not seen in a while. You have a question to ask about the past and only they have the answer.

Cancer (June22-July23)
People can't keep moving the goal posts to suit themselves and if they are doing you can't let them get away with it. Call my Cancerian advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why you must protest if someone is putting up costs already agreed on or is changing rules or arrangements, don't just accept it without question. Challenge their motives. Relationships are tense; there is some controversy over money and you can only do the best you can in the existing circumstances.

Leo (July24-Aug23)
Stop to think before making a major purchase and be prepared to haggle. At least confirm that guarantees and after sales service are included in the price. Call my Leo advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why the presence of Mercury in your sign for a short while longer will boost your skills, faculties and brainpower. Your mental abilities will be at peak level and to top it all some cheering news is all set to come your way.

Virgo (Aug24-Sept23)
Don't feel guilty because you're trying to arrange your time so you can enjoy peace, relaxation and down time. There's plenty to be gained from cutting back on your commitments and leading a less stressful lifestyle. Call my Virgoan advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why you must try to get away for a few days and enjoy the chance to pack up your troubles and smile! The quieter the next few days are the better as it will allow you to get personal affairs in order.

Libra (Sept24-Oct23)
You will get the best out of this week if you can enjoy the company of those who are on the same mental wavelength. You don't want to waste too much time arguing and this is what will happen if you choose to be with the wrong kind of people. Call my Libran advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why it's the simple pleasures of life that will please you most. If and when there are squabbles, just the smallest peace move on your part will be get a warm welcome.

Scorpio (Oct24-Nov22)
There will be times when it will feel as if you can't see the wood for the trees. Call my Scorpio advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why focusing too much on the fine detail of life stops you from seeing the complete picture. If you can't stand back and view a subject, issue or situation objectively, talk to someone who isn't involved. They will help you see things from a different perspective. A male associate is inventive and optimistic but not always cautious or careful.

Sagittarius (Nov23-Dec21)
It's not likely that you'll find yourself at a loose end, but if you do, expect someone to swiftly suggest how you can use your time. Call my Sagittarian advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why routine matters will bore you to tears. Instead of dancing to other people's tunes, take yourself off to somewhere they can't find you. A series of aspects suggest it's a mixed time of erratic ups and downs; this can be thoroughly challenging and very frustrating.

Capricorn (Dec22-Jan20)
Try to keep what's happening at home, within the family circle. Whether a housemate is involved in some legal business or there is a fracas over finances, don't get anyone else involved. The fewer people who know about it, the sooner it will be forgotten. Call my Capricorn advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why an older relative or your in-laws should be easier to understand over the coming days especially if you have fallen out with them recently.

Aquarius (Jan21-Feb19)
A close friend or partner seems bored and restless and yet they won't make the effort to find anything stimulating to do. Since you are never short of ideas on how to while away your time, you might prefer to leave them to wallow in self pity! Call my Aquarian advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why you have a need to stand back and look at a joint problem objectively to get to the hub of the matter, the more closely involved you get the trickier it will be to see a way forward.

Pisces (Feb20-Mar20)
You will need to be ultra patient in a community or professional situation in order to understand someone's behaviour. A recent error, slip up or miscalculation might put you in a more sober and responsible mood. Call my Pisces advice line 09065 504 342 to hear why where relationships are concerned a partner might need your support or assistance. The consideration you show them now is fully appreciated and will be repaid in the course of time.

MKBUSINESS

Phat Controller puts her phinger on franchising

BY ALICIA BABAEE
alicia.babaee@mk-news.co.uk

A SMALL city business is going national.

The Phat Pasty Co, which delivers handmade Cornish pasties and other delights to offices and industrial parks from a funky surfer-style van, was the brainchild of working mum Laura Clark.

Since it launched in February this year, the company has gone from strength to strength. It already has a second van in Milton Keynes, and a waiting list of 40 businesses which want them to deliver to them.

Now it is looking for franchisees to expand the company.

The ten varieties of pasties, plus monthly specials, are made in Newquay in Cornwall, frozen raw and sent to The Phat Pasty Co. They are baked in an oven in the van each morning before being driven to hungry workers across the city. The van also delivers homemade soups, sandwiches, baguettes and drinks.

Mrs Clark has developed a ready-made business that can be operated by franchisees working from home.

Together with her husband she spent nine months creating the business, operating systems and recipes.

Now it is ready to be franchised – with two more in Milton Keynes, one for Bedford and another in Northampton.

A national launch will take place at the National Franchise Exhibition at the NEC in October. It aims to have 50 franchisees within two years.

Mrs Clark, also known as the Phat Controller, said: "The business is designed to operate over a five day working week, providing a great income from a ready-made business.

Surfin' in to city offices and industrial parks: Hazel Banting delivers hot pasties and other goodies from a mini 'board bus'

"Enthusiastic franchisees who want to take the van to shows, fetes and sporting events can also operate over the weekends.

"With low start up costs, low overheads and a cash business, there are no customers to chase and it's cash positive from day one. In the first four months I made over £15,000 in profit."

An initial investment of £22,500 is required and there's a projected income in excess of £40,000 per annum.

A full franchise package has been developed with training, market mapping, operations manuals, recipes and all of the necessary marketing materials, uniforms and branded packaging including the cool retro-look van, to allow franchisees to set up their business. Deliveries are from 9am until 1.30pm each day.

Twisted logic makes for a tasty best seller

AN innovative juice company based at the Milton Keynes Enterprise Hub on the Open University campus is now exporting to 11 countries.

Twisted – a quirky range of organic juices each designed to boost a specific part of the body – has won many awards since it was founded in 2003.

City entrepreneur Simon James, 44, left the corporate rat race nearly three years ago to found the Big Squeeze Fresh Juice Company.

Now it supplies to Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, Poland, Netherlands, Belgium, Ireland, France, Hong Kong and Switzerland.

The company has won three 2006 Great Taste Awards, the Soil Association Organic Food Award 2006, and the Innovations and Trends award at Sial, which is the second largest food and drink show in the world.

Tatiana Elek, export manager at The Big Squeeze said: "Consumers really seem to have really taken to Twisted and we are now having enquiries from as far away as Australia, we attended a large food and drink show in Japan recently and this has created a lot of interest from all parts of the globe, it really is extremely exciting."

The company's bottles, including cap and label, are 100 per cent recyclable and provide the product with a shelf life of five months.

Twisted organic juice is available from leading retailers.

The recommended retail price is £1.79. More information is available at www.twistedorganic.nl

Jobsworth? No, just lost in the wacky world of 'recruitspeak'

What are the latest buzzwords in the recruitment industry?

WOULD you know what 'human capital' or the phrase 'incube sabbatical' mean?

The Harten Group takes a look at some current terminology below with definitions to helpyou find your way through the jargon jungle.

Backfilling

When staff are assigned onto a project to perhaps be change champions (see below) their existing role needs to be filled for the duration. It is therefore said to be 'backfilled' usually with a contractor or someone of lesser experience. The implication is that the person doing the backfilling is onlt there temporarily.

Change champions

Individuals given the role of promoting a new initiative within the organisation. Can either be a career enhancing move (ie if you are seen to champion some dramatic improvement in the business) or you're being set up as the fall guy if it fails.

Corporate memory

The sum of everything an organisation 'knows' embodied in the knowledge of the present staff, plus all forms of stored knowledge, including digital and electronic information, patents, all procedures and processes (both past and present) and knowledge housed in filed records.The crucial point, as with memory, is not merely whether it exists, but whether anyone can recall it when it is needed.

Hit the ground running

Means making an immediate impact without the necessity of the downtime usually associated with an initial training programme. The allusion is to paratroopers being dropped into a battle zone.

Human capital

Trendy HR term for the sum of human resources an organisation has to draw on - namely the staff, their skills, experience and intelligence which can be applied to any business context.

Incube sabbatical

A cruel term applied to a colleague who appears to be doing nothing productive for long periods of time. In other words they are taking a sabbatical in their cubicles.

Knowledge signature

Linked to corporate memory but usually applied to individuals as their personal knowledge, known only to the, on which the organisation depends. It may take the form of an understanding of a subtle set of external relationships or detailed knowledge of some rarely used internal process or precedent.

Shortlist material

An ambiguous term, loved by recruitings, meaning either that you are so good you are automatically on the shortlist.

Alternatively, it can mean, you're there to pad out the shortlist, that you are credible for the role but not expected to get the job. So if you hear a recruiter use this phrase, make sure you clarify which meaning is intended.

NHS Direct

Nurse Advisors

Full and part-time
Band 6 £22,886 - £31,004 pa plus enhancements
Ref: A00073
Bedford

Arguably the best rotation scheme you're ever likely to encounter in the clinical profession. As part of the NHS Direct team, one minute you could find yourself advising a mother whose child is showing the symptoms of meningitis, and the next talking to someone who is having a heart attack. It's the ultimate test of your clinical knowledge and nursing expertise, and an excellent opportunity to learn and develop your career in a friendly supportive environment.

We're now recruiting to our new national structure, working 24/7 to continue to provide the highest quality service to over 7 million callers every year.

To rise to the challenge you will need to be a registered nurse with proven post-registration experience in two or more clinical areas, basic computer literacy and sound communication skills.

Confidence, initiative and a calm approach will also prove to be essential in this environment, as will the ability to communicate and work both autonomously and as part of a team.
Our comprehensive induction training will take care of the rest.

In return you can expect a wide range of flexible working options, final salary indexed-linked pension, and up to 33 days annual leave.

For more information including shift patterns, please contact a Clinical Team Leader on 01234 242618.

- For an application pack or to find out the location of your nearest NHS Direct centre, call our recruitment hotline on 0845 6001855. Alternatively, electronic applications can be completed online at www.jobs.nhs.uk or you can request an application pack by emailing nationalrecruitment@nhsdirect.nhs.uk

Radix Employees Defined Contribution Plan

Notice is hereby given pursuant to section 27 of the Trustees Act 1925 that Osborne Clarke Pension Trustees Limited ("OCPT"), as the statutory independent trustee of the Radix Employees Defined Contribution Plan (the "Scheme"), is intending to distribute the assets of the Scheme in accordance with the Scheme's governing documentation and the rules of the Pension Protection Fund. It is intended that this will be achieved by the transfer of members' defined benefits (or final salary benefits) into the Pension Protection Fund if the Pension Protection Fund assumes responsibility for the Scheme, and in respect of members' defined contribution (or money purchase benefits) by the purchase of immediate and deferred annuities and/or transfer of benefits to other occupational or personal pension schemes.

The following are requested to write to Diane Naylor at EB Consultants whose address is EBC Consultants Limited, CLarendon House, 147 London Road, Kingston upon Thames, Surrey KT2 6TL on or before 16 October 2007.

- Any employee or former employee of Radix Micro Devices plc (company number 01265302) (formerly Immediate Business Systems plc) who believes that he or she was a member of the Scheme and who is not already receiving a pension in respect of his/her membership of the Scheme has not otherwise had their benefits under the Scheme satisfactorily dealt with or has recently received an announcement from OCPT;
- Any person who believes themselves to be a beneficiary of the Scheme as the widow, widower or dependant of a deceased member of the Scheme;and
- Any other person who believes they have a claim against or an interest in the Scheme.

Claimants should provide their full name, address, date of birth, National Insurance Number and details of when they were members of the Scheme.

Claimants need not write if they have received an announcement from OCPT within the last 6 months.

As soon as possible after 16 October 2007, Osborne Clarke Pension Trustees Limited will proceed to deal with the assets of the Scheme among the persons entitled to them in the manner described above, having regard only to the claims and interests of which they have prior notice and in relation to the assets used for such distribution will not be liable to any person or persons for a claim of which they do not have notice.

Osborne Clarke Pension Trustees Limited, 2 Temple Bank East, Temple Quay, Bristol BS1 6EG (Ref: SGSB/0917509). AA645238

VW has Solutions on how to drive away in a brand new Golf estate

THE third generation Golf Estate has been officially launched.

Customers, who have been ordering the car since the start of June this year, will now be able to drive their new cars away from Volkswagen retailers across the UK.

This latest generation of Golf Estate brings versatility and load-carrying ability to the Golf range.

Loadspace is 505 litres with the seats in place, rising to a maximum of 1,550 litres when the rear seats are folded flat into the boot floor.

A wide tailgate and low loading lip boost practicality while a chrome grille section, similar to the 'face' on the Eos, gives the new car an imposing and stylish appearance.

Three trim levels – S, SE and Sportline and three engines – a 1.6-litre 102 PS petrol and 1.9-litre 105 PS and 2.0-litre 140 PS TDI units are available.

Prices start at £14,347 RRP OTR for the entry-level S 1.6-litre and rise to £20,417 for the 2.0-litre TDI 140 PS with DSG and DPF (diesel particulate filter).

Helping drivers to get on the road, Volkswagen Finance, the financial services arm of the Volkswagen Group, can offer a range of finance and insurance products including its flexible personal contract plan, Solutions.

The combination of brand values and inherent quality along with the flexibility of Solutions could ensure that a customer gets more Volkswagen for their motoring budget.

Buried by Bishop

THE scriptwriters had clearly taken a break on Saturday, as MK Dons went down to ten men and slumped to a shock 2-1 defeat at the hands of Bury.

It was set to be a fairytale start for the Dons; their first competitive game at stadium:mk and after a successful pre-season, they were by far the favourites on the opening day.

But Bury stepped up to spoil the party and Dons assistant Ray Mathias has warned other sides will be after their scalp at the 22,000 seater stadium.

He said: "We've got to make this place a fortress. It's going to be difficult, we know that, but teams like Accrington Stanley are going to come here and appreciate the surroundings and it makes them play just that little bit better."

The game had started brightly for Paul Ince's men when Keith Andrews fired them into the lead with a stunning strike from the edge of the area and the lead could have been doubled moments later, but Leon Knight fired straight at the Shakers keeper.

The Dons were the more dominant side in the first half as they tried to keep control of the game, although Bury showed they were capable of an upset with several teasing breaks.

Mathias said: "The first half I thought we played exceptionally well, the second half we've come out and been very, very sloppy.

"We gave them a couple of chances and lifted their spirits a little bit."

Indeed spirits were lifted in the Bury camp, in the form of substitute Andy Bishop.

The striker added a much needed extra dimension to the Shakers and he quickly pulled the scores level when a defensive mix-up saw three Dons players clash, which allowed Bishop to ease the ball past new keeper Willy Gueret.

Mathias added: "They got back into the game with a goal, which was a little bit of bad defending, a little bit of bad luck.

"That's life, it's a little bit of bad luck that went against us, and no doubt throughout the season it will level its self out."

It got worse for the Dons in the 56th minute when Drissa Diallo was adjudged to have elbowed Ben Futcher and was given his marching orders with a straight red.

To double the blow, Bishop sent Gueret the wrong way for the resulting penalty and with a man down the Dons were unable to fight their way back into the game.

PAUL Ince added four further signings to his MK Dons side, ahead of last weeks game against Bury.

Goalkeepers Willy Gueret and Nathan Abbey signed to become the first and second choice players between the sticks.

Gueret signed a two-year-deal, while Abbey has just the one-year-deal.

Midfielders Luke Howell and Alan Navarro also reached deals with the Dons.

MEANWHILE, Clive Platt got his name on the score sheet for Colchester United, as did McLeod in the sides 2-2 draw against Sheffield United.

But, it was Kevin not Izale McLeod.

Although the former did manage to make his first appearance since leaving the Dons last week, for new club Charlton Athletic in their 1-1 draw with Scunthorpe.

MK DONS under-18s lost their final pre-season friendly 3-1 to Northampton Town.

Shaun Richards put the Cobblers in front, fifteen minutes before the break, but Dan Powell pulled one back for the Dons.

Just four minutes later Shaun Goodall's controversial goal put the Cobblers back in front.

Goodall's strike had bizarrely deflected out of the goal mouth and after a short consultation between officials, the goal was awarded.

The game was put out of reach in the second half when Alex Dyer grabbed the Cobbler's third.

PREVIEW

MACCLESFIELD
League Two
Saturday, August 18
The Moss Road
Kick-off 3pm

ON the back of a shock opening day defeat to Bury, a trip to former club Macclesfield is probably not what the doctor ordered for MK Dons boss Paul Ince.

However, the Silkmen, who had a promising start to the season by holding Bradford to a 1-1 draw, will be licking their lips with the prospect of upsetting the Dons new season.

Last year the Dons did the double over the Silkmen, with a 2-1 victory at Moss Road and a comfortable 3-0 win in the return fixture.

After deciding not to appeal the red card Drissa Diallo received against Bury, the Dons will be without the centre-back as he serves the second of his three match ban.

Macclesfield also have stars missing, including last years captain David Morley, defender Andrew Teague, and midfielders Jamie Tolley and Nick Blackman, all due to injury. But they have also added strength to their squad with former Boston striker Francis Green just one of their eight new signings.

Their main danger player is Danny Thomas, the right winger has played more than 100 games at League One and Two levels, his pace and intelligent vision will keep Dean Lewington on his toes.

Keith Andrews is the one to watch, the skipper has been in terrific pre-season form, which he carried through to the Bury game.

Paul Mitchell writes for you in MK NEWS

It's not a sprint, it's a marathon

OK, I know it would have been great to start off the season with a win, but the truth is the season is a marathon not a sprint. There is a hell of a lot of football to be played and plenty of time to start picking up points.

But let's give Bury their due, they made the game hard for us and I feel that nobody will get an easy ride playing them this season. They know the league inside out and have a good mixture of players.

I can assure you the Gaffer or the lads will not have slept very well over the weekend. This is a team that doesn't take losing well. There have been massive fall outs over the simplest game of head tennis so you can imagine the hurt and anger the lads and manager felt Saturday.

The goal scored by Keith was fitting of any opening day fixture let alone the first league game in our new stadium. It was superb and may there be many more like it in the up and coming season. We definitely have the players to produce that sort of quality in and around the squad.

Let me touch on the sending off – from where I was sitting, I didn't have the best of views of the incident. I haven't seen much of it on TV but I have spoken to Drissa and it sounds a soft one. He has admitted there was an arm but no intent of catching the Bury player, more just to try and get in front for the oncoming throw in. At the end of the day its a man's game and referees should respect that a bit of rough and tumble goes on.

I have to write this column on a Monday so we haven't yet played the cup match against Ipswich. You see, they have to check my grammar and spellings way in advance!

Just before I go I have to mention, the atmosphere on Saturday was great and we will need you again all season to help us gain those much-craved wins. I'm sure you will be there, like always.

Hope to see you all Saturday at Macclesfield, getting behind the team on a tough away day and what I'm sure will be a rough reception for the Gaffer. So lets get behind him and the team and get our first points on the board. MITCH

MORRANTS FOUR COUNTIES LEAGUE
DIVISION ONE

JUST a point separates Eaton Bray and Great Brickhilll at the top of the table and it is Bray who are leading the way, having beaten North Crawley by 147 runs.

Bray's James Flecknall hit 54, with Darren Kerrins finishing unbeaten on 47, to help them set a total of 235-9.

A superb bowling display from Garry Ellerton earned him 4-22 and set up the win as Crawley were dismissed for just 88 runs.

GREAT Brickhill also won their game, by four wickets, against MK City.

With Brickhill's John Boyd claiming 4-17, City had set a low target of 72, but their bowling attack proved more dangerous.

City claimed six wickets, as Brickhill struggled through in their reply and eventually held off for the win.

NEW Bradwell are in third place after their 110 run victory against Milton Keynes.

Aki Hussain and Khan posted a combined 97 runs as New Bradwell finished their innings on 244-9.

In reply MK could only reach 134, with James McMillan taking 3-37 to earn Bradwell the victory.

FOURTH from bottom Winslow Town lot to Cubbington by four wickets.

Winslow set 176-9 as the total and half a century from Chris Tapp helped Cubbington to the win, to remain mid-table.

DIVISION TWO

TRING Park drew with Edlesborough, but still sit at the top, while Aston Clinton lost to Aspley Guise by two wickets.

TURVEY stay at the bottom of the league after losing to Soulbury by 66 runs and Stewkley remain one place ahead of them having drawn with Studham.

OLNEY Town also shared the points with Old Bradwell as both sides were tied.

DIVISION THREE

A NINE wicket defeat at the hands of Biddenham keeps Steeple Claydon at the foot of the table, at the other end

Shenley Church End are three points clear after an eight wicket win against Drayton Parslow.

BUT Open University keep up the pressure with a three wicket win against Eggington.

Caddington beat Eaton Bray by seven wickets, while New Bradwell lost to Milton Bryan.

DIVISION FOUR

TOTTERNHOE beat Great Brickhill by 49 runs to stay in third place, while Stoke Hammond were dealt a heavy 202 run defeat Whitchurch.

CRANFIELD University are fourth from bottom despite beating Old Bradwell by two wickets and North Crawley's 37 run victory against Harlington keeps them at the top.

DIVISION FIVE

SECOND placed Printers beat Stewkley by 128 runs to keep them at the bottom.

MK CITY beat Tring Park to stay at the top, while Wing lost to Milton Bryan and are now just four points clear of their rivals.

CUBINGTON eased to a five wicket victory over Winslow, while Little Horwood lost to Olney Town.

DIVISION SIX

TOP of the table Newport Pagnell earned a one wicket victory against Caddington, while Ivinghoe and Pitsone are just five points behind after beating Eggington.

CUBINGTON lost to MK Park, to stay at the bottom, North Crawley drew with Aston Clinton and Turvey were held to a draw with Wolverton.

CHERWELL LEAGUE

MK PARK were condemned to a two wicket defeat by Cumnor.

Park found runs hard to come by as they were dismissed for 146, with Graham Simpson once again the batsman with 61 runs to his name.

Their bowling attack worked well and were looking it was looking promising as Cumnor slipped to 73-5, but they hung on to claim victory.

Park now have just four games to stay in the top division of the Cherwell League.

NORTHANTS LEAGUE

STONY Stratford moved up to seventh after returning to winning ways against Irthlingborough Town.

Going in to bat first Irthlingborough got off to the worst possible start by losing two wickets within two balls and four batsmen were dismissed for ducks. Matthew Hunt was the only bright note for Irthlingborough as he hit a half century to set Stony a target off 175.

Stony had no problem reaching the target, with Zimbabwean Dion Ebrahim smashing an unbeaten 81 to help the side to a six wicket victory.

BASKETBALL

Lions take on US uni side in first warm-up

THIS Sunday MK Lions take on American opposition San Jose State in their first warm-up game as they prepare for the upcoming basketball season.

Coach Vince Macaulay said: "This is a low key start to our preparations, we will not have a full squad as four of the team will not yet be here, however we are delighted to be hosting the San Jose State Spartans here in Milton Keynes."

Eight San Jose State University players and the men's basketball coaching staff have embarked on a one-week trip to England for a series of three games.

Spartans Head coach George Nessman has put the team through a series of practices since arriving in preparation for games against The Reading Rockets, London Leopards and the Lions.

Nessman said: "They're all really excited. The young men don't like to reveal it, but they clearly are excited.

"None of them have been to Europe before, that's an added bonus for the trip.

"It's going to be a great benefit to all of us beyond basketball."

Making the trip for the Spartans are, DeVonte Thomas, Tim Pierce and Jamon Hill, guards Justin Graham, Darion Goins and Jerelle Wilson, forward Lance Holloway and centre Oliver Caballero.

The Lions will have most of last season's team present including Mike New, Robert Youngblood, Ronnie Baker, Dru Spinks and Tony Windless whilst departing youngsters, Aaron Franks, Sherrick Archer and Nick Mabbutt will also play, that trio are off to University in the States to pursue their dreams. Also playing will be Richard Loftman who is a member of the Lions Under 16 squad.

Tip off is at 4pm at Bletchley Leisure Centre and tickets are available online at mklions.com

While MURSLEY UNITED drew 1-1 in their friendly against Potterspury

Glider ace on top

MK'S European champion glider pilot Pete Harvey has made a great start to the defence of his title at the European Gliding Championship at Issoudun in central France.

He has taken the overall lead in the Open Class after the first four races having finished in the top six in each of the first four races in the fortnight long series.

In the opening three races Harvey has grabbed third, fourth, fifth and sixth place, with his best result coming on the 427.5km course which to 3 hours 50 minutes.

Harvey takes the top of the table spot but, with five possible races left, he faces a long battle to hold on to his title.

DONS WIN 5-3 ON PENALTIES

BY SIMONE CORGAN

simone.corgan@mk-news.co.uk

MK DONS won a dramatic penalty shoot out in a pulsating Carling Cup tie against Ipswich last night.

The Dons scored all five spot kicks, winning 5-3.

Sean O'Hanlon hit the vital winner to see them through to the next round after Dons keeper Nathan Abbey had saved an earlier kick from Dan Harding.

With the scores 2-2 after 90 minutes, it seemed as though the Dons had lost out in extra time when an Owen Garvan diving header for the visitors looked to have won the game.

But a last minute penalty from Kevin Gallen took the game into a dramatic penalty shoot out.

The Dons had thrown away an early two goal lead and the Championship side scored either side of the break to force the game into extra time.

It had been a promising start for the Dons with Mark Wright's blistering run down the flank setting up an inch-perfect cross into the box.

Pint-sized striker Leon Knight met the delivery, yet his header could only rattle the bar.

But the Dons were rewarded for their hard work shortly after when Alan Navarro replicated Wright's earlier run and this time Knight was there to smash his effort into the net.

Minutes later the pressure on Ipswich was evident as Alex Bruce headed Jon-Paul McGovern's corner into his own net, to gift the Dons a 2-0 lead.

Town had their own chances, Jon Walters pulled his shot wide, while Sean O'Hanlon stood firmly to block Pablo Counago's drive.

With seconds to go before the break Dons keeper Abbey pulled off a superb double save from Alan Lee.

However, it was the controversial decision to award Town a penalty, when the referee adjudged Navarro to have brought down Gary Roberts in the box, that allowed the visitors back into the game.

And veteran Lee had no trouble in slotting home the spot kick.

Straight after the break Knight had a cheeky back-heel cleared off the line by Jason De Vos.

And just seven minutes into the second half Town drew level when Dons' defender Murphy scored an own goal after Walters had made inroads with a startling run.

While Town were stepping up through the gears, Dons also had their chances with O'Hanlon, Knight and Lloyd Dyer going close.

Both sides sustained late pressure to take the game into extra time.

It was Danny Hayes' cross from the right of the box that allowed Garvan to out-muscle his marker and knock a diving header past the palms of Abbey which looked to be enough for Town.

But De Vos brought down Knight in the 118th minute and Gallen coolly scored from the spot.

MK DONS: Abbey, Stirling, Lewington, O'Hanlon (c), McGovern (Dyer 58), Knight, Mark Wright, Wilbraham, Murphy, Navarro (Edds 83), Howell (Gallen 96).

IPSWICH TOWN: Alexander, David Wright, Lee (Legwinski76), Miller, Garvan, Harding, Roberts (Haynes 45), Bruce, De Vous (c), Walters, Counago (Clarke 76).
